SAIGON (AP)—American B52 Stratofortresses unloaded 150,000 pounds of bombs over the demilitarized zone today to counter possible fresh North Vietnamese thrusts after the second straight day of clashes between U.S. and Communist troops below the DMZ.

The eight-engine bombers blasted suspected Communist troop concentrations four miles northeast of the U.S. Marine outpost at Con Thien in a follow-up of a B52 raid Thursday on Red troop and artillery positions six miles north of Con Thien.

The latest clash along the frontier came Friday when North Vietnamese troops opened up on a column of U.S. Marine amphibious tractors 5½ miles east of the artillery base at Gio Linh. The Communists slammed 50 rounds from 60mm mortars into the column along with machine gun and small arms fire, killing one Marine and wounding 13.

The Marines fought back with artillery and mortars, and the Navy destroyer Leary in the Tonkin Gulf off North Vietnam joined in blasting the Communist positions. The Navy said the Leary knocked out several Communist mortars. There was no report on Communist casualties.

The Marine amphibious tractors came under fire while they trundled along the South China Sea coast about two miles south of the DMZ.

Other Marine units, meanwhile, reported uncovering 14 more Communist bodies from a four-hour battle Thursday some two miles north-northeast of the outpost of Con Thien and only 200 yards south of the buffer zone.

In Thursday's action, the Marines charged through a savage barrage of enemy machine gun and mortar fire to drive North Vietnamese troops from bunkers. The finding of the 14 bodies raised to 40 the number of enemy killed in this battle, headquarters said. Marine casualties were put at 15 dead and 51 wounded. The Marines also reported capturing 17 individual and nine crew-served weapons plus one 60mm mortar, 1,000 rounds of small-arms ammunition and 111 rounds of 82mm mortar.

New action flared briefly near Dak To in the central highlands, scene of a three-week battle that ended Thanksgiving Day when U.S. paratroopers captured Hill 875.

U.S. Headquarters said Communist gunners poured mortars and heavy artillery rockets into an artillery base nine miles west-northwest of Dak To which supports paratroopers of the U.S. 173rd Airborne Brigade. One American was killed and 10 wounded in the three-hour barrage Friday night.

The attack began with 82mm mortar fire interspersed with a heavier caliber fire estimated to be 120mm mortar or 122mm rocket rounds, the U.S. Command said.

U.S. units countered with mortars, artillery, helicopter gunships and air strikes by tactical fighter-bombers on the suspected Communist firing positions, but enemy casualties were not known.

Sixty-nine miles south of Saigon in the swampy Mekong Delta U.S. Navy river patrol boats and a helicopter gunship teamed up with Vietnamese militiamen to crush a Viet Cong assault on a government outpost Friday. The allied forces reported killing 19 guerrillas.

At another outpost 35 miles northwest of Saigon, South Vietnamese troops got help from U.S. Army gunship choppers and Air Force AC47s fitted out with Gatling guns. Eighteen Communist bodies were found after the two-hour fray.

Air Force and Navy pilots continued to be frustrated by thick monsoon cloud cover in efforts to hit targets in North Vietnam. But Air Force pilots managed to bomb the Yen Bai airfield 78 miles northwest of Hanoi while Marine pilots struck bridges, communications lines and weapons positions in central North Vietnam and near the DMZ. A spokesman said bad weather prevented damage assessments.

In a related development, Peking's official New China News Agency charged today that U.S. aircraft on Nov. 25 "savagely attacked" a Chinese freighter anchored in Hong Gai port in North Vietnam. NCNA said the ship was damaged and eight crew members were wounded.

Vance Tries To Unravel Cyprus Snag

U.S. Aide Confers With Makarios In New Peace Appeal

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — U.S. presidential envoy Cyrus Vance worked diligently today to overcome the Cyprus government's opposition to the accord to keep Greece and Turkey from war over the island.

But signs grew that Cypriot President Makarios, backed by his Cabinet, was raising unexpectedly strong resistance to the plan already agreed on by Greece and Turkey.

Thinking his work done, Vance had flown as far toward home as Frankfurt, West Germany, but turned back to the Mediterranean Friday after learning of a last-minute snag on the plan, U.S. sources said.

He met with Makarios for three hours, until 2 a.m. today, and then resumed the talks at 9:30. Two hours later, U.S. Ambassador Taylor Belcher, his face set and unsmiling, hurried from the presidential palace to the U.S. Embassy and back and indicated no break in the stalemate was in sight.

Asked by newsmen about prospects of a successful wind-up, he replied: "I can't give you a clue. I wish I could."

He said talks would continue beyond lunch.

During the resumed talks this morning, Greek Cypriot school children left their classrooms with flags and placards to demonstrate for enosis—union of Cyprus with Greece.

Private Who 'Served' At Home Waits Release

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The Army has surrendered in its battle to hold on to a draftee who spent 18 months of his military hitch at home with his wife, some of the time earning $130 a week at a job.

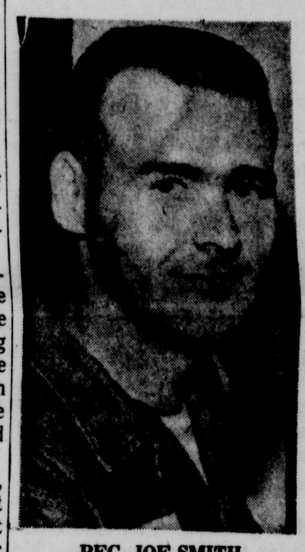

The Army announced Friday that Pfc. Joe A. Smith, 23, of Brownsville, Calif., would be released from active duty probably next week.

At the same time the announcement was made by the 6th Army, U.S. District Judge Robert C. Peckham was issuing a show-cause order for the Army to explain why Smith should not be discharged. The judge laughed when he heard about the release.

Like all the other draftees, Smith received 30 days leave at the end of his basic training at Ft. Hood, Tex., in November 1965. He went to his Sacramento Valley home to await orders.

Smith waited...and waited...and waited. No orders. Finally, he took a $130-a-week logging job with Sillen Bros. Inc., at nearby Yuba City to support himself and his wife, Glenda, 23.

He waited a year and a half.

PFC. JOE SMITH
He Wasn't Kidding.

All the while, the Army sent Mrs. Smith a monthly allotment check of $95.20—and in Smith's name they sent an $18.50 U.S. savings bond every three months. But he didn't get his private's pay because he wasn't at a post to sign for it.

Last June 13, Smith figured his time was up, donned his almost new uniform and presented himself for discharge at the Oakland Army base. There was a bit of a fuss.

"You've got to be kidding!" exclaimed an officer when he heard Smith's story. Smith said he sure wasn't.

The Army wanted Smith to serve—for real—his 18 months, to return all the money they had paid in allotment checks and bonds. The American Civil Liberties Union took up Smith's cause.

While the case was simmering, Smith was sent to the 6th Army presidio in San Francisco and employed as a runner. He even made private first class.

Smith said the Army also wanted to charge him for desertion, but dropped it for insufficient evidence.

"I didn't expect trouble," Smith said when the case was first made public. He said he didn't try to hide the fact he was in the Army.

Smith's release from the Army means—like other draf-

Others May Follow U.S. Steel Boost

New Steel Price Hikes Could Hit At Pocketbooks

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A new round of steel price hikes—now under study—could quickly add to consumer costs on a wide range of products.

Pressure to increase prices on items from autos to toasters would be added if a price increase announced by U.S. Steel Corp. spreads through the industry.

The country's largest steelmaker posted a $5-a-ton increase Friday on two grades of steel sheets. Other producers said they were studying the move. Such increases generally have spread throughout the industry in recent years.

Price increases on some steel products, like railroad car wheels and heavy construction materials, take a long time reaching the pocketbooks of the average person. But boosts on sheets, which are used in consumer products, can be readily felt in the marketplace.

Steel sheets are a big item in automaking, and even before the U.S. Steel move, there was speculation in Detroit about the possibility of an auto price hike early next year. New and more costly contracts won by the United Auto Workers union, plus federal regulations making auto shoulder harnesses mandatory

LBJ Adviser Warns Of Price-Wage Spiral

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's chief economic adviser said today the latest steel price increase "represents another turn in the price-wage spiral." He called for "a return to more responsible behavior on wages and prices by both labor and management."

Gardne Ackley, chairman of Johnson's Council of Economic Advisers not only cited the U.S. Steel action as promoting a price-wage spiral but also viewed as "equally disturbing" the recent contracts negotiated with Ford and General Motors by the United Auto Workers Union.

At AFL-CIO Convention

Reuther's 'Won't Attend' Stirs Resolution Problem

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., (AP) — United Auto Workers President Walter P. Reuther says he will not attend the annual convention of the AFL-CIO. As a result convention leaders are faced with the problem of how to deal with his resolution demanding "internal reforms" to make the AFL-CIO more democratic.

Reuther said Friday he would not attend the convention and asked that the resolution be withdrawn from consideration at the 14-million member organization's convention that opens next week.

But AFL—CIO sources said the organization's constitution had no specific provisions for withdrawing a resolution whose sponsor did not show up.

AFL-CIO President George Meany declined to comment on Reuther's letter informing him Reuther would not attend but told a convention of the AFL-CIO's construction unions, "I have never seen the trade union movement as busy as it is today. I have never seen so many activities that affect the welfare of the general membership."

The resolution might be shunted to a committee, the sources said, but some delegates may insist upon acting on it.

Many labor leaders wanted a showdown at the convention on Reuther's long attack on the policies and leadership of Meany.

The resolution charges that the "AFL-CIO lacks the social vision, the dynamic thrust, the crusading spirit that should characterize the progressive, modern labor movement."

After a meeting of the UAW's General Motors Council in Detroit, Reuther also announced that no strike deadline would be set against GM until after the New Year holiday.

Britain Faces Slowdown In Rail Dispute

LONDON (AP) — Talks on a major rail dispute collapsed today, threatening chaos on the state-owned railroads after midnight Sunday.

Leaders of 36,500 locomotive engineers and firemen walked out of a meeting with Labor Minister Ray Gunter saying: "The end has come."

From midnight Sunday, on, they said, their members will "work to rule""—a euphemism for go slow.

Their union—the Associated Society of Locomotive Engineers and Firemen—objects to a management decision to abolish cabooses on freight trains and put in the rear cab of diesel locomotives. The brakeman are members of the rival and larger National Union of Railwaymen.

British Railways says the move would save $600,000 a year. The locomotive men say it would impair working safety.

Engineer Outlines Program

House-Numbering Plans Are Set For Rural Areas

LISBON — The Columbiana County engineer is ready to begin a rural house - numbering program when county commissioners give the word.

John Ursu of Salem, the engineer, has prepared a resolution authorizing him to proceed and will present it to the commissioners Monday for their signatures.

The resolution is based on:

The commissioners' authority under law to assign numbers to buildings along roads in unincorporated areas of the county;

The recommendation and urging of the Columbiana Regional Planning Commission, civic organizations, business and utilities, and

The commissioners' determination that it is for the public good that such a uniform numbering system be adopted.

Ursu said he believes the work can be completed in approximately 18 months for between $13,000 and $15,000.

The RPC last July, acting on the recommendation of its transportation committee, called on the commissioners to appropriate sufficient monies and to authorize the county engineer to use his personnel and facilities to assign building numbers in rural areas. A uniform numbering system was selected by the RPC and approved by the county engineer.

The transportation committee noted that some adjoining counties and the majority of the counies in Ohio have adoped or are studying rural numbering plans. Committeemen said uniformly - numbered residences and buildings will enable ambulances, fire trucks and other emergency vehicles to answer calls more quickly, and will simplify and expedite mail and other deliveries.

Ursu said a grid system is the basis for determining numbers to be assigned. This system is formed by lines spaced approximately one mile apart like the section lines on county maps. New county maps which the engineer is completing for the printer will have the grid numbers and identify all roads by name and number.

Numbering of rural buildings will begin from two base lines.

The north-south base line is the western boundary of the

Wellsville's elected officials and Council clerk will receive pay increases effective Jan. 1 under a measure approved Friday night by Council and signed by Mayor William Daugherty.

Under the new schedule, the pay will be $4,500 for mayor, $3,800 for auditor; $900 for treasurer; $1,600 for solicitor; $480 for Council, and $900 for Council clerk.

County Post Bid Planned By Campbell

Ollie R. Campbell of Walker Rd., Glenmoor, will seek the Democratic nomination for Columbiana County commissioner at the May primary. He is a retired landscaper.

He took out petitions Friday at the County Board of Elections, joining Commissioner R. Max Gard, of Lisbon, also a Democrat, who announced yesterday he will seek re-election for a second four-year term.

Campbell will seek the post held by Charles J. Gause of Hanoverton RD 1, a Republican. Gause was elected in November 1966 to complete the unexpired term of Frank C. Wilson of Wellsville, who died in August 1966. Wilson was a Democrat.

Campbell, a native of Georgetown, has resided in East Liverpool since 1898. He said his decision to seek office was made four days after the Republican county commissioners appointed Jack Ripley, a Republican and editor of the Leetonia Courier, to succeed him on the Columbiana Metropolitan Housing Authority.

Campbell said he had a lead role in getting the MHA for the county, and has traveled 15,000 miles since June in the interest of low-cost housing for the elderly.

Main Break Cuts Off Heat In Cleveland

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Gas company workers labored to restore service to Cleveland's Hough area residents today after a water main break forced the company to turn off all gas service to 5,000 customers.

The temperature dropped below freezing after the water line break and residents stayed in nearby schools.

An East Ohio Gas Co. spokesman said "we plan to get it done before the day is over." The company has 350 workmen on the job from five Ohio cities.

The gas lines first had to be pumped free of sand, water and

Britain Faces Slowdown In Rail Dispute

LONDON (AP) — Talks on a major rail dispute collapsed today, threatening chaos on the state-owned railroads after midnight Sunday.

Leaders of 36,500 locomotive engineers and firemen walked out of a meeting with Labor Minister Ray Gunter saying: "The end has come."

From midnight Sunday, on, they said, their members will "work to rule"'—a euphemism for go slow.

Their union—the Associated Society of Locomotive Engineers and Firemen—objects to a management decision to abolish cabooses on freight trains and put in the rear cab of diesel locomotives. The brakeman are members of the rival and larger National Union of Railwaymen.

British Railways says the move would save $600,000 a year. The locomotive men say it would impair working safety.

Engineer Outlines Program

House-Numbering Plans Are Set For Rural Areas

LISBON — The Columbiana County engineer is ready to begin a rural house - numbering program when county commissioners give the word.

John Ursu of Salem, the engineer, has prepared a resolution authorizing him to proceed and will present it to the commissioners Monday for their signatures.

The resolution is based on:

The commissioners' authority under law to assign numbers to buildings along roads in unincorporated areas of the county;

The recommendation and urging of the Columbiana Regional Planning Commission, civic organizations, business and utilities, and

The commissioners' determination that it is for the public good that such a uniform numbering system be adopted.

Ursu said he believes the work can be completed in approximately 18 months for between $13,000 and $15,000.

The RPC last July, acting on the recommendation of its transportation committee, called on the commissioners to appropriate sufficient monies and to authorize the county engineer to use his personnel and facilities to assign building numbers in rural areas. A uniform numbering system was selected by the RPC and approved by the county engineer.

The transportation committee noted that some adjoining counties and the majority of the counies in Ohio have adoped or are studying rural numbering plans. Committeemen said uniformly - numbered residences and buildings will enable ambulances, fire trucks and other emergency vehicles to answer calls more quickly, and will simplify and expedite mail and other deliveries.

Ursu said a grid system is the basis for determining numbers to be assigned. This system is formed by lines spaced approximately one mile apart like the section lines on county maps. New county maps which the engineer is completing for the printer will have the grid numbers and identify all roads by name and number.

Numbering of rural buildings will begin from two base lines.

County Post Bid Planned By Campbell

Ollie R. Campbell of Walker Rd., Glenmoor, will seek the Democratic nomination for Columbiana County commissioner at the May primary. He is a retired landscaper.

He took out petitions Friday at the County Board of Elections, joining Commissioner R. Max Gard, of Lisbon, also a Democrat, who announced yesterday he will seek re-election for a second four-year term.

Campbell will seek the post held by Charles J. Gause of Hanoverton RD 1, a Republican. Gause was elected in November 1966 to complete the unexpired term of Frank C. Wilson of Wellsville, who died in August 1966. Wilson was a Democrat.

Campbell, a native of Georgetown, has resided in East Liverpool since 1898. He said his decision to seek office was made four days after the Republican county commissioners appointed Jack Ripley, a Republican and editor of the Leetonia Courier, to succeed him on the Columbiana Metropolitan Housing Authority.

Campbell said he had a lead role in getting the MHA for the county, and has traveled 15,000 miles since June in the interest of low-cost housing for the elderly.

Driver Figures In 3 Mishaps Within Period Of 17 Minutes

A city woman was injured Friday afternoon when her auto was involved in three accidents within 17 minutes, one as she was on her way to police headquarters to make out a report of the first two.

Mrs. Lanell Womack Null, 38, of 431 Watterson Ave. was treated for abrasions and contusions of the nasal bone and left wrist and released from City Hospital about 5:05 p.m. after the series of accidents which began about 4:08.

Mrs. Null told investigating officer David K. Mumaw that her car skidded and struck the rear of an auto driven by Mrs. Helen Goodman Reese, 51, of Hill Blvd. and Curry St. about 4:08 as Mrs. Reese's auto was stopped for a traffic light at Walnut St. and Bradshaw Ave.

Mrs. Reese was not injured.

Police were not informed of the accident until the second mishap occurred at Walnut and E. 6th Sts.

Mumaw was called to the intersection about 4:18 where he found Mrs. Null's vehicle had struck another car operated by Elsie D. Green, 45, of Lisbon RD 2. Mrs. Null told the officer she struck the Green auto in the rear as the auto stopped for a traffic light. Police said Mrs. Green sustained a minor injury, but was not treated.

When Mumaw arrived at the scene of the second mishap, to avoid causing a traffic jam, he ordered the two women to drive to the police station, since both autos were operable.

As Mrs. Null proceeded to headquarters, the third accident occurred. She turned her 1965 convertible onto Peach Alley from W. 5th St. and struck the northeast corner of the Hartt Audit building, causing minor damage.

It was in the third mishap Mrs. Null received the nasal and wrist injury. It occurred about 4:25.

Mrs. Null was not arrested.

In the only other mishap here during the night, an auto which failed to stop damaged an Ohio Power Co. utility pole.

The mishap occurred about 11:36 on Dresden Ave. A witness said she saw a blue or black van-type truck pull away from the pole and head north on Dresden.

The 76-year-old water main at East 70th Street and Hough Avenue burst at 4 a.m.. Friday, flooding some spots as much as two feet deep. A large section of pavement disappeared into a 40-by-60 foot hole that developed at that point.

Water service was restored quickly, but the gas company suspended service in the area because water and sand seeped into their lines.

Police said about 5,000 homes were without heat in the Negro slum, which was the scene of four days of rioting and firebombing in the summer of 1966.

Driver Hurt North Of City

A Youngstown pickup truck driver was injured when his vehicle struck guardrails and a bridge along the Freeway north of the city early today.

A group of teen-agers in three autos escaped injury in a minor multiple mishap on Shadyside Ave. near Lake Marwin shortly after midnight.

Edward J. Protain of Youngstown was treated at City Hospital for chest injuries suffered in the Freeway accident at 2:20 a.m.

The Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon said Protain was headed north in a 1965 pickup truck when it ran off the right side of the road, hit guardrails, then a concrete bridge and bounced off, halting in the passing lane. There was heavy damage to the front of the truck.

Autos operated by Ronald Piller, 16, of 2135 Harvey Ave., James P. Bess, 18, of Densmore Ave. and Kathryn Ferguson, 17, of 920 Plutus Ave., Chester, were involved in the accident near Lake Marwin.

Officers said Pillar, headed east in a 1961 sedan, skidded into a ditch on the south side of the highway. Bess, headed east in a 1962 sedan, stopped behind the disabled vehicle, but the girl, following Bess, was unable to stop and her 1963 sedan struck that of Bess, shoving it into Pillar's car.

The drivers and other teenagers in each auto were unhurt, officers said.

Sharon LaRue Frederick, 17, of 1063½ Ephriam St. escaped injury when her car went off Route 170 a mile north of Route 30 and over an embankment, running into a hillside yesterday afternoon.

county and is actually four lines because of the offsets for Carroll and Jefferson counties. The west-east line is the northern boundary line of the county.

Each grid or mile section will be numbered consecutively north to south and west to east. For example, north-south numbers will run from 1 at the west-east base line (the northern boundary) to 22,000 at the farthest south point in Yellow Creek Township.

West-east numbers will begin at 22,000 at the north-south line (western boundary) and run to 52,000 at the Ohio - Pennsylvania state line.

One thousand numbers, or one digit for every 5.28 feet, are available for each grid or mile section.

Odd numbers will be assigned to the west and south sides of roads and streets. Where roads run diagonally, numbers will be assigned according to which base line they more nearly parallel.

Ursu said the rural numbering plan will not extend into Perry Township or Liverpool Township because Salem and East Liverpool respectively will extend city numbering systems into those areas.

Ursu said his employes are ready to begin assigning numbers, but considerable field work will be required. Workmen will have to fix the grid intersections and measure the distances to each to determine its number.

Once the numbering begins, the engineer's men will furnish building owners or occupants with a number card bearing a drawing of the township and "X" for the location of the building.

Endorsements of the rural numbering system have been received from the Columbiana County Farm Bureau Federation, Pomona Grange, Rural Health and Safety Council, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, Mile Branch Grange, County Firemen's Association, Calcutta Volunteer Fire Department, Damascus Ruritan Club and the East Liverpool Area Chamber of Commerce. Ursu said the Salem News and East Liverpool Review supported the proposal editorially.

However, General Motors and the Ford Motor Co. said they would have to wait until the situation settles before saying if the U.S. Steel action will affect car prices.

General Electric said the move will add cost to its production of appliances, but said it couldn't determine immediately if it could absorb the cost itself.

The White House and the President's Council of Economic Advisors haven't made any public statement on the U.S. Steel boost.

Gardner Ackley, chairman of the economic advisors, unleashed sharp criticism last summer when the price of steel bars went up 1.8 per cent.

And after the industry hiked plate prices, a government spokesman said, "The administration won't be keeping its cool if sheet and strip steel go up, too."

The U.S. Steel action boosted the price of cold rolled carbon steel sheets and high-strength, low-alloy sheets by 3.4 per cent, effective Dec. 15. A company spokesman said these items account for 17.5 per cent of steel shipments, industrywise.

If sheet prices are increased throughout the industry, steel prices this year will have gone up on 62 per cent of all steel output.

county and is actually four lines because of the offsets for Carroll and Jefferson counties. The west-east line is the northern boundary line of the county.

Each grid or mile section will be numbered consecutively north to south and west to east. For example, north-south numbers will run from 1 at the west-east base line (the northern boundary) to 22,000 at the farthest south point in Yellow Creek Township.

West-east numbers will begin at 22,000 at the north-south line (western boundary) and run to 52,000 at the Ohio - Pennsylvania state line.

One thousand numbers, or one digit for every 5.28 feet, are available for each grid or mile section.

Odd numbers will be assigned to the west and south sides of roads and streets. Where roads run diagonally, numbers will be assigned according to which base line they more nearly parallel.

Ursu said the rural numbering plan will not extend into Perry Township or Liverpool Township because Salem and East Liverpool respectively will extend city numbering systems into those areas.

Ursu said his employes are ready to begin assigning numbers, but considerable field work will be required. Workmen will have to fix the grid intersections and measure the distances to each to determine its number.

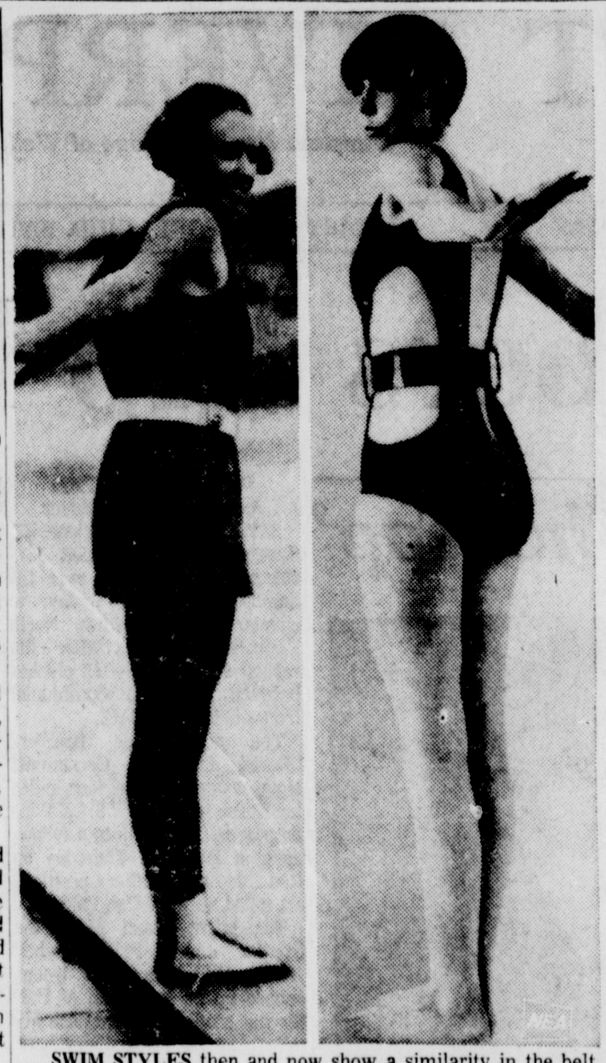

Once the numbering begins, the engineer's men will furnish building owners or occupants with a number card bearing a drawing of the township and "X" for the location of the building.

Endorsements of the rural numbering system have been received from the Columbiana County Farm Bureau Federation, Pomona Grange, Rural Health and Safety Council, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, Mile Branch Grange, County Firemen's Association, Calcutta Volunteer Fire Department, Damascus Ruritan Club and the East Liverpool Area Chamber of Commerce. Ursu said the Salem News and East Liverpool Review supported the proposal editorially.

Death Toll Hits 160

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — The death toll from a wall of water released by a broken dam in Central Java rose to 160 today and a military spokesman at the scene said the possibility of sabotage is being investigated.

The accident that inspired the famous ballad, "Wreck of the Old 97," occurred at Danville, Va., on Sept. 27, 1903.

on Jan. 1, are exerting pressure for higher car prices.

However, General Motors and the Ford Motor Co. said they would have to wait until the situation settles before saying if the U.S. Steel action will affect car prices.

General Electric said the move will add cost to its production of appliances, but said it couldn't determine immediately if it could absorb the cost itself.

The White House and the President's Council of Economic Advisors haven't made any public statement on the U.S. Steel boost.

Gardner Ackley, chairman of the economic advisors, unleashed sharp criticism last summer when the price of steel bars went up 1.8 per cent.

And after the industry hiked plate prices, a government spokesman said, "The administration won't be keeping its cool if sheet and strip steel go up, too."

The U.S. Steel action boosted the price of cold rolled carbon steel sheets and high-strength, low-alloy sheets by 3.4 per cent, effective Dec. 15. A company spokesman said these items account for 17.5 per cent of steel shipments, industrywise.

If sheet prices are increased throughout the industry, steel prices this year will have gone up on 62 per cent of all steel output.

He refused to say what was blocking agreement and only commented, "We have had further discussions and will begin again at 6."

Greek Cypriot sources said Makarios was sticking to his original demand that there be complete demilitarization of the island. This means that in addition to the withdrawal of all non-Cypriot forces on the island —Greek and Turkish soldiers here without sanction — the legal contingents of 950 Greek and 650 Turkish soldiers must go as well.

Although Vance would not reveal what was causing the holdup, diplomatic sources at the United Nations in New York indicated Makarios had upset the peace package by seeking to place his own interpretation on its terms.

The archbishop was reported to have gone along with the settlement worked out by Vance and others earlier in the week, then suddenly backed down.

Area Woman Hurt In Crash

A Wellsville area woman is in "fair" condition at City Hospital today after she was involved in an accident in Wellsville Friday afternoon.

Maxine Bodie, 34, of 1270 Hillcrest suffered a possible neck injury in the 4:15 mishap.

Her auto was struck from behind by a truck driven by Frank Nader Jr., 28, of Cochranton, Pa.

Nader told the investigating officer he and Mrs. Bodie were headed south on Route 7 near the intersection of a driveway to a food market when Mrs. Bodie signaled a right turn and then turned left across the road into the parking lot. He reported he could not get stopped and the rig struck the Bodie auto.

Mrs. Bodie reported she had given the proper signal before turning.

No arrests were made.

In two other accidents in Wellsville Friday, no one was injured and no charges were filed.

Autos driven by Sarandos Tsouirs, 45, of 1421 Maryland Ave., Steubenville, and Timothy Wood, 17, of Wellsville RD 1 collided at the intersection of Routes 7 and 45 about 10:30 last night.

Police said Tsouris stopped at the intersection and was turning onto Route 45 when struck from behind by the Wood auto. Wood said he was unable to stop because of the icy pavement. The autos involved received moderate damage.

About 10:10 Friday morning, two autos collided at 11th and Commerce Sts., causing minor damage to the vehicles.

Kenneth Keeney, 44, of 928 Biltmore Ave., Toronto, told police he was backing from a parking place when struck by a second auto operated by Frank L. Thomas, 30, of 1914 Buckeye Ave. Thomas said he was unable to stop because of icy roads.

Hays Replies To De Gaulle Dollar Blast

WASHINGTON — Rep. Wayne L. Hays declared this week in the House of Representatives that if President De Gaulle of France "wants economic war, we ought to give it to him."

The veteran Democrat from Flushing, Ohio made his remarks in answer to De Gaulle's recent attack upon the integrity of the American dollar.

Hays, who had just returned with the House delegation from the North Atlantic Treaty assembly in Brussels, told fellow members in the House "that the general feeling of all the delegates from all the countries . . .was definitely against his (De Gaulle's) actions in the international economic world as well as the political world."

Hays pointed out "there are plenty of things we could do to hurt France's economy, such as an embargo on imports from France, and so on."

"I subscribe to what has been said before, and I especially say that if De Gaulle is successful in destroying the integrity of the dollar it will be because Washington did not have the 'guts' to do what was necessary to keep him from doing it."

Irondale Man Fined Following Tavern Fray

A Wellsville man was fined this morning in mayor's court there after he was charged early today with disorderly conduct and intoxication.

Gerald Murphy, 22, of Irondale RD 1, was fined a total of $60 and costs during the hearing today before Mayor William Daugherty.

Police arrested him about 2:45 today after officers were called to a fight at Pop's Tavern in which Murphy allegedly was involved. He at first was charged with intoxication, but the disorderly conduct charge was added at the police station when Murphy did not cooperate with officers, they said.

Area Woman Hurt In Crash

A Wellsville area woman is in "fair" condition at City Hospital today after she was involved in an accident in Wellsville Friday afternoon.

Maxine Bodie, 34, of 1270 Hillcrest suffered a possible neck injury in the 4:15 mishap.

Her auto was struck from behind by a truck driven by Frank Nader Jr., 28, of Cochranton, Pa.

Nader told the investigating officer he and Mrs. Bodie were headed south on Route 7 near the intersection of a driveway to a food market when Mrs. Bodie signaled a right turn and then turned left across the road into the parking lot. He reported he could not get stopped and the rig struck the Bodie auto.

Mrs. Bodie reported she had given the proper signal before turning.

No arrests were made.

In two other accidents in Wellsville Friday, no one was injured and no charges were filed.

Autos driven by Sarandos Tsouirs, 45, of 1421 Maryland Ave., Steubenville, and Timothy Wood, 17, of Wellsville RD 1 collided at the intersection of Routes 7 and 45 about 10:30 last night.

Police said Tsouris stopped at the intersection and was turning onto Route 45 when struck from behind by the Wood auto. Wood said he was unable to stop because of the icy pavement. The autos involved received moderate damage.

About 10:10 Friday morning, two autos collided at 11th and Commerce Sts., causing minor damage to the vehicles.

Kenneth Keeney, 44, of 928 Biltmore Ave., Toronto, told police he was backing from a parking place when struck by a second auto operated by Frank L. Thomas, 30, of 1914 Buckeye Ave. Thomas said he was unable to stop because of icy roads.

Cranberries have been used as a pie filling over the years. Nowadays some good cooks like to team the cranberries with raisins to achieve a pleasant combination of tart and sweet.

Hays Replies To De Gaulle Dollar Blast

WASHINGTON — Rep. Wayne L. Hays declared this week in the House of Representatives that if President De Gaulle of France "wants economic war, we ought to give it to him."

The veteran Democrat from Flushing, Ohio made his remarks in answer to De Gaulle's recent attack upon the integrity of the American dollar.

Hays, who had just returned with the House delegation from the North Atlantic Treaty assembly in Brussels, told fellow members in the House "that the general feeling of all the delegates from all the countries . . .was definitely against his (De Gaulle's) actions in the international economic world as well as the political world."

Hays pointed out "there are plenty of things we could do to hurt France's economy, such as an embargo on imports from France, and so on."

"I subscribe to what has been said before, and I especially say that if De Gaulle is successful in destroying the integrity of the dollar it will be because Washington did not have the 'guts' to do what was necessary to keep him from doing it."

Irondale Man Fined Following Tavern Fray

A Wellsville man was fined this morning in mayor's court there after he was charged early today with disorderly conduct and intoxication.

Gerald Murphy, 22, of Irondale RD 1, was fined a total of $60 and costs during the hearing today before Mayor William Daugherty.

Police arrested him about 2:45 today after officers were called to a fight at Pop's Tavern in which Murphy allegedly was involved. He at first was charged with intoxication, but the disorderly conduct charge was added at the police station when Murphy did not cooperate with officers, they said.

Bullet Biting Coming Up

Whether the scholarly Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota is the best man to join the issue on Vietnam in the 1968 primaries with the Johnson administration is open to argument.

Also open to argument is whether scholarly Sen. J. W. Fulbright of Arkansas was the best man to join the Vietnam issue in the U.S. Senate.

But closed to argument is the duty of men like these to discuss Vietnam. They are honoring the American tradition of free speech.

Being scholars of history, both men knew in advance they would run afoul of another American tradition just as deep-rooted, though never referred to with pride.

Every person who bucks national policy will be pelted with slurs and accusations of borderline treason. If the price of liberty is eternal vigilance, the price of free speech is savage harassment.

No one who exercises free speech at the cost of affronting the Establishment can hope to get off unscathed. Not only the Establishment, itself, but all its backers will pitch in and hit the dissenter with every brickbat that's handy.

Sens. Fulbright and McCarthy will be bracketed targets. The political question is how many senators will stand with them in the line of fire. The line forms on the left.

There is clearly a division of opinion about Vietnam in the United States. There is an issue. It cannot be concealed. A government has taken the nation to war without a mandate from the people.

The Johnson administration may come through the discussion unscathed. It has the odds in its favor. In the absence of a declaration of war by Congress, which would have cleared away popular doubts, next best would be a mandate from voters in 1968.

A genuine bullet-biting is shaping up.

One of the oddities of the American way of life is the way free speech cuts across the grain when free speakers voice opinions that don't agree with our own.

We are 100 per cent in favor of free speech in the abstract but only 52 per cent in favor of it in the concrete.

U.F. Does It

Anyone who thinks achieving a United Fund or Community Fund drive goal is easy had better give it another thought.

No matter how obvious the need to support our service agencies, regardless of the convenience and economy of a single campaign, there is still that reluctance of many people to part with money, no matter how good the cause.

Success of the East Liverpool Area United Fund effort is a testimonial to much hard work on the part of volunteers, to planning and energetic action by the leaders, and recognition by most of the community of the vital role played by the 15 agencies in serving the young, old, ailing and needy.

John Starkey and Robert Sauer attempted to concentrate the drive this year in a two-week period, and accomplished much in this direction. With the orientation of the workers and contributors toward a shorter campaign, it is likely that with another active campaign and willing support from everyone, next year's goal will be met with equal success and earlier.

The United Fund staff has announced its gratitude to the public for support in the drive. The public and the agencies owe an expression of appreciation to the staff for its time and labor in putting U.F. over the top again.

Deserved 'Well Done'

One of the truly nice guys in the municipal government bowed out Friday in the same quiet way he had performed his official duties for just short of 16 years.

Solicitor Joseph W. C. Cooper had served 15 years and 11 months as the legal adviser to the municipal government in all its branches, also performing the same function for the school district.

The most complicated legislation ever to face City Council was drafted by Mr. Cooper as the solicitor. Some of the ordinances and resolutions truly were monumental in length and complicated phraseology — notably the various income tax ordinances and attendant regulations; legislation providing for building the sewage treatment plant and sewer system, plus provision for the mortgage revenue bonds that financed the project, and the various street improvements such as the Freeway and the rebuilding of outer St. Clair Ave.

Throughout his service, Mr. Cooper displayed a competence and a cool-headedness under fire that well could be emulated by all who serve the public. Calm in debate and reasonable with those who opposed or questioned him in his official capacity, he was a master at explaining complicated legal matters in laymen's language to fledging councilmen and other officials.

What the public frequently failed to realize was the wide scope of his duties. Everyone recognized his role as adviser to Council and all other municipal offices and departments, but he also was called upon frequently by other agencies such as the Municipal Civil Service Commission, the Health Board, the City Planning Commission, the Board of Public Utilities and — among many others — the Board of Education.

He also represented the city when it was involved in litigation in other courts — Common Pleas, the 7th District Court of Appeals and the Ohio Supreme Court. He appeared frequently before the Public Utilities Commission when Council decided to oppose rate increases sought for natural gas service.

East Liverpool owes Joe Cooper a "well done!" for his work, which never paid him more than $4,200 a year. He has done his part as a member of a family distinguished for two generations for its service to the community.

Here We Go Again

Sen. Thomas J. Dodd missed the point in a recent radio interview during which he chided Illinois Sen. Charles H. Percy for allowing businessmen to raise funds for senatorial expenses not covered by his government salary.

Sen. Dodd compared this with Senate censure of his practice of converting funds raised at political dinners in Connecticut to his own purposes, such as payment for house repair, parking tickets and liquor. There has been no accusation of misuse of political funds in the case of Sen. Percy.

There was no accusation of misuse of contributed money, either, in the most publicized case of all—the private political expense fund raised for Richard M. Nixon when he was a senator from California in 1952.

Sen. Nixon had been nominated for vice president on the Republican ticket. Political opponents tried to smear him with disclosure of the fund. Before the hassle simmered down, questions were asked about other funds, including one believed to have helped Adlai Stevenson in Illinois.

Mr. Nixon was exonerated of any suspicion of wrong-doing by his own frank statement. The contributions had been made to help cover his political expenses, a common practice. Robert A. Taft went so far as to say he could think of no reason senators shouldn't accept contributions to cover personal expenses, because their expenses always outran their salaries and allowances.

And so it goes . . . on and on and on. Everybody knows that only exceedingly wealthy men can cover the expenses of a senatorial campaign out of their own pockets. Yet, every candidate who accepts money from outside sources knows that a Damocletian sward is hanging over his head, inviting his political foes to cut the slender cord that holds it there.

Political Fever

By James Marlow

President Johnson is just beginning to get a taste of the fever of the 1968 presidential election year. To nobody's surprise, he is being very impassive about it. It would be bad politics to be otherwise.

The confusion over Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara's departure from the Pentagon to be president of the World Bank had just begun to quiet down when Johnson's fellow Democrat, Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota, became his rival for the White House.

Also to nobody's surprise, since he had been murmuring about it for weeks, McCarthy announced he will enter at least four presidential primaries in 1968, with the war in Vietnam his main them.

He said there is so much dissatisfaction over the war "there is a good possibility" Johnson will be denied renomination.

At this point it is not likely many people, including McCarthy, think he has a chance to get the nomination away from Johnson although, if he can generate enough heat, somebody else might.

BUT JOHNSON'S reaction when he expresses it to those not close to him is a political cliche: that discussion is good for the country. To put it another way, he's not saying anything for publication at this time.

Just starting out there is a big difference between McCarthy and Johnson on the war.

McCarthy says he is not for peace at any price but for an honorable, rational and political solution to the war, which is about as vague as anybody can be, while suggesting a phased, scheduled withdrawal of U.S. forces.

Johnson, on the other hand, brims with confidence that the war has never been going better than now, that the North Vienamese losses are putting terrible pressure on them, and that the pressure will coninue.

McCarthy says he hopes his candidacy will lead Johnson to alter his Vietnam policy. He may think so, but Johnson himself shows not the slightest indication of it. And at this moment it is almost impossible to think he will.

In his statement explaining McNamara's leaving the Defense Department, Johnson, speaking of the war in Vietnam, said, "Our major defense policies are clearly defined."

A WHITE HOUSE source said it would be fair to assume that the President's aim in saying that was to counter speculation that McNamara's departure might lead to a harder war line in Vietnam.

Maybe. If in the next few months the line got a lot harder the same White House source could say what Johnson said about "our major defense policies" being clearly defined were right when he said it in November but that new decisions were made later.

Johnson's praise of McNamara's service as secretary of defense has been of the highest order in public and even more lavish in private conversation.

McNamara told Johnson a couple of times, the last time in October, he'd like the job of president of the World Bank if the President didn't object to his going. Johnson, so far as is known, never discussed it with him again but recommended him for the job without directly telling

'I'm Not Unfamiliar With The Stuff'

VICTOR RIESEL

Rocky Road For Rockefeller

NEW YORK — Nelson Aldrich Rockefeller is about to feel the slings and arrows of outraged archers whose sharpshooting has cut down many a political career.

Victor Riesel

The New York Governo soon will be described by union chiefs—among them the most influential and oratorical of all—as being as "conservative on labor matters as Barry Goldwater."

This will be said publicly and loudly on the floor of the national AFL-CIO convention and during a series of meetings leading to that conclave opening in Bal Harbour, Fla., Dec. 7. Prviately, some of the same labor chiefs whom Mr. Rockefeller has wooed for years even to the extent of ferrying them around in his private aircraft, are saying "he kicked us in the teeth."

The public denunciation will make that critique sound subtle. For it will be labor's newest, but influential "young" orator, Jerry Wurf, militant leader of the rejuvenated American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employes, who will take to the microphone to challenge Gov. Rockefeller.

IT MUST be noted that it is traditional, though not compulsory, to inform AFL-CIO president George Meany of coming upheavals and policy making action on the national convention floor. It can be taken for granted that Mr. Labor (meaning Meany) knows of the attack. Since Wurf, whose membership, after a series of powerful municipal strikes, stands at 375,000 in some 40 states, is working on his challenge with considerable satisfaction, Mr. Meany has not objected.

IN FACT, a safe prediction is that the nationally influential AFL-CIO president will approve the fusillade. So will a series of other powerful labor leaders—including many in the building and construction trades unions on whom Mr. Rockefeller has been counting to deliver the liberal, and part of the labor vote, should he be nominated by the Republican party.

Behind the sudden defection of these men, and back of the bitterness of Mr. Wurf who is a long standing critic of the governor, is a civil war inside the massive New York State civil service.

For a long time, many labor leaders in this state, both friend and foe of Mr. Rockefeller, have been seeking to represent sections of the more than 150,000 state employes. For a long time they've talked with Mr. Rockefeller personally asking for state approval of such representation.

Some of them had reason to believe that the AFL-CIO unions—some of whose leaders actually were the balance of power last year in the governor's re-election—world get a piece of the action as they say in the East Village here.

Then, suddenly on November 16, they read in the newspapers that Gov. Rockefeller had recognized the Civil Service Employes Association. This added insult to injury, they said privately. First they were not informed in advance as is the custom. But most importantly, they did a fast burn over the "indignity" of seeing representation of 124,000 state employes handed to an independent "union." The association is outside the AFL-CIO and is not considered a labor organization by the federation.

MR. ROCKEFELLER might as well have burned the hand-clasping AFL-CIO escutcheon in public. Inside labor, this has now become an angry national issue. The Civil Service Employes Association is proud of its 88,000 members whose dues are checked off. But the AFL-CIO charges it is really an association of state employes considerably influenced by supervisors and department officials who also are members.

Mr. Rockefeller has said that he is recognizing the association for only one year. This sowed salt in the open wounds.

The labor leaders in turn charge that not only have they been excluded from participation in representation of scores of thousands of employes in their jurisdiction, but that Mr. Rockefeller actually is playing presidential politics.

"This is the kick in the teeth," said one junior chief who has been close to the governor for some years now. "There are AFL-CIO unions which represent civil service workers in the state right now. We have lobbied in behalf of these workers. We had assumed we would be given the opportunity to get representation by being granted status.

"This proves one thing to us. He is making his last ditch stand for the presidency. He is saying that this is recognition for one year only. But one year from now he will know how he stands nationally.

"By recognizing the Civil Service Association he knows he simply can raise their wages or not, according to his strategy. He could not do that with us. We might rock the budget. So by not dealing with a series of AFL-CIO unions, he averts higher wages, keeps his budget in line and sidesteps the danger of strikes during the critical presidential year."

So the labor leaders are heading south determined to make the governor's road to the nomination a rocky one.

Too Much Talk

It isn't often in world history that details of military strategy become the subject of public discussion during a war.

With the change in the post of the secretary of defense, the North Vietnamese as well as the Soviets and Red Chinese may learn that the military minds here will have more to say in the future than heretofore about how the war in Vietnam is to be fought.

Whether by coincidence or by design, former President Eisenhower — suprreme commander of Allied forces in Europe during World War II —and Gen. Omar Bradley, his right-hand man, happened to appear on television this week to discuss the Vietnam War and the strategy of waging it.

THIS IS a most surprising development and certainly could not have taken place without the knowledge of the administration, which presumably could have objected if it so desired.

What generals Eisenhower and Bradley recommended is a strategy not yet employed in Vietnam — namely, to engage in "hot pursuit" of planes or ground forces to their bases, wherever they might be.

It is significant that Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, promptly announced that "there is no intention or plan to change the character of the Vietnam War."

He conceded, however, that the Joint Chiefs have "studied" steps that would have involved invading North Vietnam or the northern portion of the demilitarized zone.

President Johnson probably knows all about the reasons for the public dialogue as well as for the subsequent soft-pedaling by the chairman of the Joint Chiefs of any "escalation" plan in the immediate future.

The key, however, oppears to be something former President Eisenhower said in his television interview.

He declared:

"If you're chasing some people and they just step over into Cambodia or Laos . . . I'd go at 'em as long as they'd come in there in the first place. And in this same way, in the air — if an airplane attack me, and we wanted to chase him, I'd go in wherever his base was . . . including China. . . .

"I sometimes think we talk too much about trying to get them to the negotiating table. I think we should say that once, and then shut up, because they take it as a sign of weakness. They think we're in a bad way. Intelligence indicates that's what's keeping 'em going."

Gen. Eisenhower echoed the thinking of a large number of people in America when he said:

"The first principle of war is to win quickly because it's the time that you're engaged in the thing that brings about the cost and particularly in blood as well as treasure. And I think that if you're going to appeal to force . . . then get all the force you can as quickly as you can."

THE TELEVISION interview, which was conducted by CBS correspondent Harry Reasoner turned at one point to the question of whether Red China or the Soviet Union might enter the Vietnam war directly. Gen. Eisenhower commented:

"I discount any attempt of either Russia or China coming into this war on a major basis. I discount it because Communists operate on the basis of their own plans — whether they be aggressive or, for the moment, they want to be quiescent — whatever. They do not do this by reaction, or some firm action they see elsewhere."

This is but another way of saying neither the Red Chinese nor the Soviet government will deliberately plunge their own people into a war just to help out the North Vietnamese or even to deprive the United States of a victory in Vietnam.

No so long ago one of the Soviet allies in the Middle East, Egypt, was beaten badly, but the Moscow government did not feel inclined to involve itself militarily in the conflict, though it had furnished arms and supplies to President Nasser for many months and at great cost.

Maybe the North Vietnamese will conclude that something new is going on at the Pentagon and will find it advisable to pay attention to some of the overtures being made by a dozen or more foreign governments to try to bring them to the peace table.

Some of the ordinances and resolutions truly were monumental in length and complicated phraseology — notably the various income tax ordinances and attendant regulations; legislation providing for building the sewage treatment plant and sewer system, plus provision for the mortgage revenue bonds that financed the project, and the various street improvements such as the Freeway and the rebuilding of outer St. Clair Ave.

Throughout his service, Mr. Cooper displayed a competence and a cool-headedness under fire that well could be emulated by all who serve the public. Calm in debate and reasonable with those who opposed or questioned him in his official capacity, he was a master at explaining complicated legal matters in laymen's language to fledging councilmen and other officials.

What the public frequently failed to realize was the wide scope of his duties. Everyone recognized his role as adviser to Council and all other municipal offices and departments, but he also was called upon frequently by other agencies such as the Municipal Civil Service Commission, the Health Board, the City Planning Commission, the Board of Public Utilities and — among many others — the Board of Education.

He also represented the city when it was involved in litigation in other courts — Common Pleas, the 7th District Court of Appeals and the Ohio Supreme Court. He appeared frequently before the Public Utilities Commission when Council decided to oppose rate increases sought for natural gas service.

East Liverpool owes Joe Cooper a "well done!" for his work, which never paid him more than $4,200 a year. He has done his part as a member of a family distinguished for two generations for its service to the community.

Here We Go Again

Sen. Thomas J. Dodd missed the point in a recent radio interview during which he chided Illinois Sen. Charles H. Percy for allowing businessmen to raise funds for senatorial expenses not covered by his government salary.

Sen. Dodd compared this with Senate censure of his practice of converting funds raised at political dinners in Connecticut to his own purposes, such as payment for house repair, parking tickets and liquor. There has been no accusation of misuse of political funds in the case of Sen. Percy.

There was no accusation of misuse of contributed money, either, in the most publicized case of all—the private political expense fund raised for Richard M. Nixon when he was a senator from California in 1952.

Sen. Nixon had been nominated for vice president on the Republican ticket. Political opponents tried to smear him with disclosure of the fund. Before the hassle simmered down, questions were asked about other funds, including one believed to have helped Adlai Stevenson in Illinois.

Mr. Nixon was exonerated of any suspicion of wrong-doing by his own frank statement. The contributions had been made to help cover his political expenses, a common practice. Robert A. Taft went so far as to say he could think of no reason senators shouldn't accept contributions to cover personal expenses, because their expenses always outran their salaries and allowances.

And so it goes . . . on and on and on. Everybody knows that only exceedingly wealthy men can cover the expenses of a senatorial campaign out of their own pockets. Yet, every candidate who accepts money from outside sources knows that a Damocletian sward is hanging over his head, inviting his political foes to cut the slender cord that holds it there.

Political Fever

By James Marlow

President Johnson is just beginning to get a taste of the fever of the 1968 presidential election year. To nobody's surprise, he is being very impassive about it. It would be bad politics to be otherwise.

The confusion over Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara's departure from the Pentagon to be president of the World Bank had just begun to quiet down when Johnson's fellow Democrat, Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota, became his rival for the White House.

Also to nobody's surprise, since he had been murmuring about it for weeks, McCarthy announced he will enter at least four presidential primaries in 1968, with the war in Vietnam his main them.

He said there is so much dissatisfaction over the war "there is a good possibility" Johnson will be denied renomination.

At this point it is not likely many people, including McCarthy, think he has a chance to get the nomination away from Johnson although, if he can generate enough heat, somebody else might.

BUT JOHNSON'S reaction when he expresses it to those not close to him is a political cliche: that discussion is good for the country. To put it another way, he's not saying anything for publication at this time.

Just starting out there is a big difference between McCarthy and Johnson on the war.

McCarthy says he is not for peace at any price but for an honorable, rational and political solution to the war, which is about as vague as anybody can be, while suggesting a phased, scheduled withdrawal of U.S. forces.

Johnson, on the other hand, brims with confidence that the war has never been going better than now, that the North Vienamese losses are putting terrible pressure on them, and that the pressure will coninue.

McCarthy says he hopes his candidacy will lead Johnson to alter his Vietnam policy. He may think so, but Johnson himself shows not the slightest indication of it. And at this moment it is almost impossible to think he will.

In his statement explaining McNamara's leaving the Defense Department, Johnson, speaking of the war in Vietnam, said, "Our major defense policies are clearly defined."

A WHITE HOUSE source said it would be fair to assume that the President's aim in saying that was to counter speculation that McNamara's departure might lead to a harder war line in Vietnam.

Maybe. If in the next few months the line got a lot harder the same White House source could say what Johnson said about "our major defense policies" being clearly defined were right when he said it in November but that new decisions were made later.

Johnson's praise of McNamara's service as secretary of defense has been of the highest order in public and even more lavish in private conversation.

McNamara told Johnson a couple of times, the last time in October, he'd like the job of president of the World Bank if the President didn't object to his going. Johnson, so far as is known, never discussed it with him again but recommended him for the job without directly telling

Rocky Road For Rockefeller

NEW YORK — Nelson Aldrich Rockefeller is about to feel the slings and arrows of outraged archers whose sharpshooting has cut down many a political career.

Victor Riesel

The New York Governo soon will be described by union chiefs—among them the most influential and oratorical of all—as being as "conservative on labor matters as Barry Goldwater."

This will be said publicly and loudly on the floor of the national AFL-CIO convention and during a series of meetings leading to that conclave opening in Bal Harbour, Fla., Dec. 7. Prviately, some of the same labor chiefs whom Mr. Rockefeller has wooed for years even to the extent of ferrying them around in his private aircraft, are saying "he kicked us in the teeth."

The public denunciation will make that critique sound subtle. For it will be labor's newest, but influential "young" orator, Jerry Wurf, militant leader of the rejuvenated American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employes, who will take to the microphone to challenge Gov. Rockefeller.

IT MUST be noted that it is traditional, though not compulsory, to inform AFL-CIO president George Meany of coming upheavals and policy making action on the national convention floor. It can be taken for granted that Mr. Labor (meaning Meany) knows of the attack. Since Wurf, whose membership, after a series of powerful municipal strikes, stands at 375,000 in some 40 states, is working on his challenge with considerable satisfaction, Mr. Meany has not objected.

IN FACT, a safe prediction is that the nationally influential AFL-CIO president will approve the fusillade. So will a series of other powerful labor leaders—including many in the building and construction trades unions on whom Mr. Rockefeller has been counting to deliver the liberal, and part of the labor vote, should he be nominated by the Republican party.

Behind the sudden defection of these men, and back of the bitterness of Mr. Wurf who is a long standing critic of the governor, is a civil war inside the massive New York State civil service.

For a long time, many labor leaders in this state, both friend and foe of Mr. Rockefeller, have been seeking to represent sections of the more than 150,000 state employes. For a long time they've talked with Mr. Rockefeller personally asking for state approval of such representation.

Some of them had reason to believe that the AFL-CIO unions—some of whose leaders actually were the balance of power last year in the governor's re-election—world get a piece of the action as they say in the East Village here.

Then, suddenly on November 16, they read in the newspapers that Gov. Rockefeller had recognized the Civil Service Employes Association. This added insult to injury, they said privately. First they were not informed in advance as is the custom. But most importantly, they did a fast burn over the "indignity" of seeing representation of 124,000 state employes handed to an independent "union." The association is outside the AFL-CIO and is not considered a labor organization by the federation.

MR. ROCKEFELLER might as well have burned the hand-clasping AFL-CIO escutcheon in public. Inside labor, this has now become an angry national issue. The Civil Service Employes Association is proud of its 88,000 members whose dues are checked off. But the AFL-CIO charges it is really an association of state employes considerably influenced by supervisors and department officials who also are members.

Mr. Rockefeller has said that he is recognizing the association for only one year. This sowed salt in the open wounds.

The labor leaders in turn charge that not only have they been excluded from participation in representation of scores of thousands of employes in their jurisdiction, but that Mr. Rockefeller actually is playing presidential politics.

"This is the kick in the teeth," said one junior chief who has been close to the governor for some years now. "There are AFL-CIO unions which represent civil service workers in the state right now. We have lobbied in behalf of these workers. We had assumed we would be given the opportunity to get representation by being granted status.

"This proves one thing to us. He is making his last ditch stand for the presidency. He is saying that this is recognition for one year only. But one year from now he will know how he stands nationally.

"By recognizing the Civil Service Association he knows he simply can raise their wages or not, according to his strategy. He could not do that with us. We might rock the budget. So by not dealing with a series of AFL-CIO unions, he averts higher wages, keeps his budget in line and sidesteps the danger of strikes during the critical presidential year."

So the labor leaders are heading south determined to make the governor's road to the nomination a rocky one.

Too Much Talk

It isn't often in world history that details of military strategy become the subject of public discussion during a war.

With the change in the post of the secretary of defense, the North Vietnamese as well as the Soviets and Red Chinese may learn that the military minds here will have more to say in the future than heretofore about how the war in Vietnam is to be fought.

Whether by coincidence or by design, former President Eisenhower — suprreme commander of Allied forces in Europe during World War II —and Gen. Omar Bradley, his right-hand man, happened to appear on television this week to discuss the Vietnam War and the strategy of waging it.

THIS IS a most surprising development and certainly could not have taken place without the knowledge of the administration, which presumably could have objected if it so desired.

What generals Eisenhower and Bradley recommended is a strategy not yet employed in Vietnam — namely, to engage in "hot pursuit" of planes or ground forces to their bases, wherever they might be.

It is significant that Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, promptly announced that "there is no intention or plan to change the character of the Vietnam War."

He conceded, however, that the Joint Chiefs have "studied" steps that would have involved invading North Vietnam or the northern portion of the demilitarized zone.

President Johnson probably knows all about the reasons for the public dialogue as well as for the subsequent soft-pedaling by the chairman of the Joint Chiefs of any "escalation" plan in the immediate future.

The key, however, oppears to be something former President Eisenhower said in his television interview.

He declared:

"If you're chasing some people and they just step over into Cambodia or Laos . . . I'd go at 'em as long as they'd come in there in the first place. And in this same way, in the air — if an airplane attack me, and we wanted to chase him, I'd go in wherever his base was . . . including China. . . .

"I sometimes think we talk too much about trying to get them to the negotiating table. I think we should say that once, and then shut up, because they take it as a sign of weakness. They think we're in a bad way. Intelligence indicates that's what's keeping 'em going."

Gen. Eisenhower echoed the thinking of a large number of people in America when he said:

"The first principle of war is to win quickly because it's the time that you're engaged in the thing that brings about the cost and particularly in blood as well as treasure. And I think that if you're going to appeal to force . . . then get all the force you can as quickly as you can."

THE TELEVISION interview, which was conducted by CBS correspondent Harry Reasoner turned at one point to the question of whether Red China or the Soviet Union might enter the Vietnam war directly. Gen. Eisenhower commented:

"I discount any attempt of either Russia or China coming into this war on a major basis. I discount it because Communists operate on the basis of their own plans — whether they be aggressive or, for the moment, they want to be quiescent — whatever. They do not do this by reaction, or some firm action they see elsewhere."

This is but another way of saying neither the Red Chinese nor the Soviet government will deliberately plunge their own people into a war just to help out the North Vietnamese or even to deprive the United States of a victory in Vietnam.

No so long ago one of the Soviet allies in the Middle East, Egypt, was beaten badly, but the Moscow government did not feel inclined to involve itself militarily in the conflict, though it had furnished arms and supplies to President Nasser for many months and at great cost.

Maybe the North Vietnamese will conclude that something new is going on at the Pentagon and will find it advisable to pay attention to some of the overtures being made by a dozen or more foreign governments to try to bring them to the peace table.

Q. — How can I make peanut butter canapes for a party?

A. — Spread crackers or bread rounds with peanut butter, top with small slices of bacon, and place in a hot oven or under the broiler until the bacon crisps.

Q.—Is there an easy way to remove the white membrane from oranges?

A.—Before peeling the oranges, soak in boiling water for about five minutes. Then the stringy membranes will slide off with the peelings.

Q.—How can I sharpen the blade of a knife, a plane, a chisel, or other cutting tool when there is no honing stone available?

A.—You can do this nicely with a piece of emery cloth laid out on a flat, smooth surface. Be sure to vary the pressure on the tool, bearing down hard at first in order to wear down the edge even, then gradually decreasing your pressure so as to produce a keen cutting edge.

Q.—How can I clean out the holes in the bottom of my steam iron?

A.—One very easy and effective method is with a pipe cleaner dipped in a solution of detergent and water.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

The word ballot, says The World Almanac, is derived through the French from Italian "ballotta," which literally means "little ball." The ancient Greeks voted by tossing pieces of shell (ostrakons), potsherds or pebbles into an urn. The Italian "ballotta" was applied to round objects or little balls used in elections and hence we have ballot in the sense of a ticket or vote.

How Can I?

Q. — How can I make peanut butter canapes for a party?

A. — Spread crackers or bread rounds with peanut butter, top with small slices of bacon, and place in a hot oven or under the broiler until the bacon crisps.

Q.—Is there an easy way to remove the white membrane from oranges?

A.—Before peeling the oranges, soak in boiling water for about five minutes. Then the stringy membranes will slide off with the peelings.

Q.—How can I sharpen the blade of a knife, a plane, a chisel, or other cutting tool when there is no honing stone available?

A.—You can do this nicely with a piece of emery cloth laid out on a flat, smooth surface. Be sure to vary the pressure on the tool, bearing down hard at first in order to wear down the edge even, then gradually decreasing your pressure so as to produce a keen cutting edge.

Q.—How can I clean out the holes in the bottom of my steam iron?

A.—One very easy and effective method is with a pipe cleaner dipped in a solution of detergent and water.

IT WAS formed from the 14th-century hand - forged nails which littered the ruins of the Nazi fire - bombed Cathedral of St. Michael's in 1940.

The original cross was welded together within a few weeks after the bombing and erected in the ruins of the cathedral with the inscription "Father Forgive," a reminder of the need to forgive the Nazis and to be forgiven for their own inhumanity toward the German people.

Since that time, "Cross of Nails" programs have been carried out all over the world.

The people of the Episcopal Church in Ohio are seeking to rededicate themselves by means of a prayer pilgrimage in which the Cross of Nails is carried from parish to parish.

The move here has grown to communitywide proportions, with other congregations joining in the pilgrimage and the all-night prayer vigil which is to follow.

A CASUAL conversation between the Rev. D. R. Salisbury, rector of St. Stephen's Episcopal Church, and Fr. William Lawler of St. Aloysius Catholic Church, resulted in the priest's request to share in the events. The idea then was expanded to include other denominations in the pilgrimage, which will get under way at the First Church of Christ at 7 p.m.

It will then proceed down 5th St. to the First Methodist Church for a brief prayer stop, on to St. Aloysius Church for a similar visitation and then to St. Stephen's for a formal reception of the "Cross" and an observance of the Holy Communion by the Rev. Eugene Oliver of St. Paul's Church in Steubenville. After the service, there will be a continuous prayer vigil throughout the night until 3:30 the following afternoon, when the "Cross" will be carried to the Episcopal Church of the Ascension in Wellsville.

The schedule also calls for residents of the community to meet in the sanctuary of the First Church of Christ before 7 p.m. Thursday. After a brief prayer, the procession will be aligned by the marshals, Jackman Vodrey and D. Michael Curran.

LOCAL congregations who organized with St. Stephen's in the pilgrimage and prayer vigil include St. Aloysius, Longs Run United Presbyterian, First Methodist, First Church of Christ, Trinity United Presbyterian and the Salvation Army.

Mayor George Willshaw and members of the city administration will be in the procession. Among others taking part will be the Salvation Army Band; honor guards representing Cardinal Mercier Assembly Fourth Degree Knights of Columbus and Pilgrim Commandery 55, Knights Templar, crucifers from St. Stephen's, Trinity and St. Aloysius; flag-bearers from the First Church of Christ, Trinity and St. Stephen's and the Holy Name Society of St. Aloysius, and torch-bearing acolytes from St. Stephen's and St. Aloysius.

THIS IS THE MODERN COVENTRY Cathedral in England, which was consecrated in 1962, replacing the edifice that was destroyed in November 1940 by Nazi bombs. From the ruins the famed "Cross of Nails" has become a symbol of international reconciliation.

Social Security Aide Addresses Insurance Group

Robert Harris, East Liverpool Social Security Office manager, spoke on proposed changes in the Social Security law at a meeting of the East Liverpool Life Underwriters Friday.

Harris also described aspects of the Social Security program which was involved in a magazine article recently.

Eighteen attended the meeting at the Inn Town Motel at which William Bryan, vice president, was in charge. Henry Silvestri of Cleveland, regional manager of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., was a guest.

Harris compared bills voted on by the House and Senate regarding proposed amendments to Social Security Law tax schedules and increases in the earnings base.

In the Senate version the new retirement age would be 60 with the benefit reduced by one - third the amount payable at age 65. This would not be payable until December 1968. Under both versions a widow could become eligible for disability benefits if disabled within seven years after her spouse's death.

The House version has an age 50 limitation.

Harris reported that under Medicare both versions of the bill have a provision for reimbursement of part of the doctor bills even if they are unpaid.

He also referred to a critical article in the October Reader's Digest about Social Security. He said that the author had collected several old arguments into one article, and he rebutted several of them.

The next meeting will be Dec. 29.

Columnist Sifts His Mail

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Scientists are puzzled by the increasing longevity gap between women and men. In 1920 women lived an average of only a year longer than men. Today their life expectancy is seven years greater than that of men —73.5 to 66.5.

On a less mortal level, another thing science can't yet explain is why men tend to lose hair from the top of their head as they age but grow more hair in their ears and nostrils. It really doesn't seem to make much sense, does it?

But it is encouraging to know that, even in this most murderous of centuries, more people are living longer. Of America's 200 million people, 1,124,000 are over 85.

It's the ordinary man making an ordinary salary who keeps Uncle Sam living in the style in which he seems to want to become accustomed. Experts of Tax Foundation, Inc., have figured that if the Internal Revenue Service took 100 per cent of all incomes over $10,000 a year, it would bring in only enough money to operate the federal government for 34 days.

If it's true, as H.G. Wells once said, that "civilization is a race between education and catastrophe," we may win yet. In 1965 U.S. colleges and universities awarded 17,000 doctoral degrees. By 1976 the figure is expected to reach 37,000 annually.

Quotable notables: "A boy becomes an adult three years before his parents think he does, and about two years after he thinks he does."—Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, director of Selective Service.

Odd jobs: Have you ever met a thumb cutter or a screen ape? Thumb cutters are specialized workers in glove factories. You might suspect screen apes earn their livelihood in Hollywood, but they don't. They are mine employes who attend to the shaking screens that sort freshly mined coal.

Quips from our contemporaries: A minister walked into the vestry after his Sunday sermon and was shocked to discover his wife with both hands in the collection plate. "Ethel," he exclaimed, "What are you doing?" "Don't get excited," his wife replied calmly. "I'm simply looking for a button to sew on your coat."—The Jay-Bee Upsondowns.

Inbreeding: Endogamy, the marriage between family relatives, can adversely affect the health of offspring resulting from such unions. Studies in Sweden have found the children of married first cousins are more likely to suffer from nervous diseases and tuberculosis. The occurrence of albino children is also seven times as common as among marriages in which the partners are unrelated.

Worth remembering: "A man begins cutting his wisdom teeth the first time he bites off more than he can chew."

November Seen 'Disordered' In Weather Sense

"Disordered" is the way Edwin Copeland, U. S. weather observer at Millport, describes November.

The average temperature for November is 39.6, but this year it was 36.3. The average rainfall, 2.41, was topped, however, by an average of 2.43 during 13 rainy days. Twenty - four cloudy days, three partly cloudy and three clear resulted in a majority of overcast weather.

Only half of the normal 30 per cent sunshine was enjoyed. The normal rainfall for the whole year to date is 34.3, but the area reports only 33.63.

In addition to a poor harvesting season, which left many acres of corn yet to pick, the area has fallen victim to a "snow job,", Copeland said. The average snow is 2.3, but to date we have had 3.5. The heavy fall of Thursday, which measured 4.5 inches at Millport — does not count on the November record. The "end" of the month, according to Copeland, was at 7 a.m. Thursday.

When you are buying half of a fully cooked ham, you may want to have a slice removed for separate cooking. Have the slice a couple of inches thick and bake it on a rack in a shallow pan in a slow oven (325) degrees) for about 40 minutes.

Couple two vegetables and you'll need only one serving dish to bring to the table. Carrots and celery make an excellent combination; so do creamed potatoes and green peas.

Chapel Rites Set At West Liberty

WEST LIBERTY, W. Va. — The Interfaith Chapel at West Liberty State College will be dedicated Sunday at 3 p.m.

The program, to be conducted by West Liberty President Paul N. Elbin, will begin a week of ceremonies that will emphasize the ecumenical nature of the chapel.

Two organ recitals and services conducted by Protestant, Catholic, Jewish and Orthodox clergymen are scheduled in addition to the dedication exercises.

The chapel, constructed entirely by private donations, was built at a cost of approximately $360,000. Individuals contributed another $65,000 to furnish the building, including a pipe organ that cost $55,000.

In addition to housing the various campus ministries, the chapel features a 175 - seat worship center.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q.—How can I repair veneer that has become loosened on the edge of a piece of furniture?

A.—First remove the finish from the area and steam the veneer with an iron and a wet cloth to make the veneer pliable. Scrape out the old glue from under the veneer with a piece of sandpaper, and work in new glue with a spatula or wire. Cover the surface with newspaper, and pile weights on it until the glue has set. Then sand the surface lightly, wipe on varnish-and-oil, rub with rottenstone, and wax.

Officers Named By Area Church

New officers have been named at the Bethesda Presbyterian Church, near Millport.

Elected were Lawrence Hawkins and Carl Rinehart, elders; Wilbur McKarns, Mrs. Victoria Erwin and Fred Rogers, trustees; Mrs. Martha Gergel and Mrs. Maxine Cope, deacons; Mrs. Cora Mae Grubbs, treasurer; Mrs. Dorothy Finnicum, church school superintendent; Richard Crawford, assistant church school superintendent; Peter Marra, children's department superintendent, and Miss Susan Cope, church school secretary.

Slice a Spanish - type sweet onion into thin rings and marinate in olive oil and lemon juice; store in the refrigerator. Serve as a relish. If the oil congeals during storage, allow the mixture to stand at room temperature before serving.

A MOMENT OF MEDITATION
Must We Tolerate Denominationalism?

In the United States of America there exists about three hundred different denominational bodies. The religious leaders all over the country have been recently telling us of all of the harm this division has caused to the work of the Lord. It has been freely admitted that denominationalism is a curse. Yet, the attitude seems to be that we must tolerate it. It is treated by many as a necessary evil.

If denominationalism is doing harm to the cause of Christ and if it is indeed contrary to the teachings of Christ, we are then led to ask this question: Why, then, is it tolerated? Why have men and women not abandoned it? It seems to me that the answer to this question can be clearly seen when we give consideration to the "cause" of the division of denominationalism. Division exists today in religious matters because people have not been willing to follow the teachings of the Bible but have held to the doctrines and commandments of men. These human ideas are responsible for our divided state. We are not divided over what the Bible says but over the human ideas that man has added to the Bible.

Let me illustrate. The Bible states clearly in Jno. 3:1-2 that a man named Nicodemus came to Jesus by night. If I were to ask many people if Nicodemus came to Jesus by night, the answer would be yes. All would be in agreement. The reason being that we can be united on the things that God says. Now, if I were to ask this same group of people, Why did Nicodemus come by night?, the answers might vary. The reason is the fact that God's Word did not tell us why he came by night. As long as we stayed with what God said in His Word, we were united. When we went beyond this to get the ideas and opinions of men, we were divided. This is the way it is in all religious matters. We are united as long as we stay with the things that God said, but we become divided when we get into the ideas of men.

Thus, I believe that it is evident that the cause of the divided state of religion is that many have been following the doctrines of men. Instead of just doing what God said in His Word, men have inserted their own ideas and these ideas have divided us.

Herein, I believe is also the key as to why the divided state of religion has been tolerated. Men would rather see the cause of Christ suffer than to give up some of their own ideas and commandments. Unity can be attained in religious matters when we are ready to follow God and His Word. Denominationalism is a curse and should be rejected by all. You are invited to attend services of the Church of Christ tomorrow.

Final Plans Are Made For Pilgrimage

'Cross Of Nails' Arrival Awaited Thursday

Final plans are being made for the arrival here next Thursday of the "Cross of Nails," a symbol which inspired the people of the diocese of Coventry, England, in 1962 to a deeper awareness of their Christian commitment.

The cross, which will be brought to East Liverpool by members of the congregation of St. Paul's Episcopal Church of Steubenville, is due at the First Church of Christ about 7 p.m.

IT WAS formed from the 14th-century hand - forged nails which littered the ruins of the Nazi fire - bombed Cathedral of St. Michael's in 1940.

The original cross was welded together within a few weeks after the bombing and erected in the ruins of the cathedral with the inscription "Father Forgive," a reminder of the need to forgive the Nazis and to be forgiven for their own inhumanity toward the German people.

Since that time, "Cross of Nails" programs have been carried out all over the world.

The people of the Episcopal Church in Ohio are seeking to rededicate themselves by means of a prayer pilgrimage in which the Cross of Nails is carried from parish to parish.

The move here has grown to communitywide proportions, with other congregations joining in the pilgrimage and the all-night prayer vigil which is to follow.

After the service, there will be a continuous prayer vigil throughout the night until 3:30 the following afternoon, when the "Cross" will be carried to the Episcopal Church of the Ascension in Wellsville.

The schedule also calls for residents of the community to meet in the sanctuary of the First Church of Christ before 7 p.m. Thursday. After a brief prayer, the procession will be aligned by the marshals, Jackman Vodrey and D. Michael Curran.

LOCAL congregations who organized with St. Stephen's in the pilgrimage and prayer vigil include St. Aloysius, Longs Run United Presbyterian, First Methodist, First Church of Christ, Trinity United Presbyterian and the Salvation Army.

Mayor George Willshaw and members of the city administration will be in the procession. A MOMENT OF MEDITATION
Must We Tolerate Denominationalism?

In the United States of America there exists about three hundred different denominational bodies. The religious leaders all over the country have been recently telling us of all of the harm this division has caused to the work of the Lord. It has been freely admitted that denominationalism is a curse. Yet, the attitude seems to be that we must tolerate it. It is treated by many as a necessary evil.

If denominationalism is doing harm to the cause of Christ and if it is indeed contrary to the teachings of Christ, we are then led to ask this question: Why, then, is it tolerated? Why have men and women not abandoned it? It seems to me that the answer to this question can be clearly seen when we give consideration to the "cause" of the division of denominationalism. Division exists today in religious matters because people have not been willing to follow the teachings of the Bible but have held to the doctrines and commandments of men. These human ideas are responsible for our divided state. We are not divided over what the Bible says but over the human ideas that man has added to the Bible.

Let me illustrate. The Bible states clearly in Jno. 3:1-2 that a man named Nicodemus came to Jesus by night. If I were to ask many people if Nicodemus came to Jesus by night, the answer would be yes. All would be in agreement. The reason being that we can be united on the things that God says. Now, if I were to ask this same group of people, Why did Nicodemus come by night?, the answers might vary. The reason is the fact that God's Word did not tell us why he came by night. As long as we stayed with what God said in His Word, we were united. When we went beyond this to get the ideas and opinions of men, we were divided. This is the way it is in all religious matters. We are united as long as we stay with the things that God said, but we become divided when we get into the ideas of men.

Thus, I believe that it is evident that the cause of the divided state of religion is that many have been following the doctrines of men. Instead of just doing what God said in His Word, men have inserted their own ideas and these ideas have divided us.

Herein, I believe is also the key as to why the divided state of religion has been tolerated. Men would rather see the cause of Christ suffer than to give up some of their own ideas and commandments. Unity can be attained in religious matters when we are ready to follow God and His Word. Denominationalism is a curse and should be rejected by all. You are invited to attend services of the Church of Christ tomorrow.

Waiting Wives Club Will Hold Yule Party

A Christmas party for wives and children of servicemen overseas will be held Dec. 15 at 6 p.m. in the Trinity United Presbyterian Church by the Waiting Wives Club.

Mrs. Clara Sell, president, said wives who do not have children are invited to bring a relative or friend's child. Santa Claus will attend. Parents are to bring gifts, with a child's name attached.

Just for a change, add lemon flavoring to sugar cookie dough. A half teaspoon of the flavoring will be enough for a recipe that calls for about 2½ cups of flour. Along with the flavoring you may also add a little grated lemon rind.

Jury Rejects $25,000 Suit

LISBON — A Common Pleas Court jury returned a verdict Friday in favor of Charles Glass of Route 45, Wellsville, the defendant in a $25,000 personal injury suit filed by Blaine McIntosh, 22, of Wellsville RD 1.

McIntosh sought damages for a fractured vertebra received Feb. 13, 1964, in a rear-end collison on Webber Way, a short distance west of Dresden Ave. in East Liverpool.

McIntosh and Glass, both of whom worked at the Hays Oil Co. at the time, had punched out at 10 p.m. and were on their way home. They took different routes to reach Dresden. McIntosh arrived at the Webber Way junction first, turned west and stopped for a hitchhiker.

Glass testified he was just a short distance behind and saw McIntosh turn from Dresden onto Webber Way. Glass said the light was green in his favor and he accelerated to turn onto Webber Way because there was a car approaching from the opposite direction on Dresden. He said he made the turn and suddenly saw the McIntosh car stopped about 20 feet ahead.

Glass said he turned to the right and the left front of his car hit the right rear of the stopped car. The impact knocked the McIntosh car forward just as the hitchhiker was starting to get in.

McIntosh towed the Glass car home. He said his back began to hurt a couple of days later and X-rays revealed the broken vertebra. He was in the hospital nearly seven weeks.

Glass said he was going about 20 miles an hour. One of his witnesses, a radiologist, testified he could find no sign of a fracture in X-ray plates of the plaintiff's back.

The trial began Tuesday. Judge Joel H. Sharp charged the jury yesterday.

Municipal Needs To Be Discussed

Hancock County is expected to be represented at a municipal and public affairs program to be held at Wheeling Tuesday for city and county officials.

The meeting will begin at 7 in the city - county building.

The topics will include problems of municipal finance, territorial jurisdiction and general municipal powers.

George Podelco, administrator of the program, said guest speakers will include:

Fairfax Brown, assessment-levy division of the West Virginia Tax Department; William R. Ross, executive director of the State League of Municipalities; Richard Shelton, executive director of the Association of County Officials, and J. Patrick Bower, assistant attorney general, who will be present to answer legal questions.

City Building Permits Rise In November

Permits for new building and remodeling estimated to cost $75,050 were issued in November by Mayor George E. Willshaw's office, a gain of $59,070 from the $15,980 in October.

Only six permits were issued in November, but four were for comparatively major jobs. The office issued 16 permits in the preceding month, mostly for repair and renovation work.

The November permits, the persons to whom they were issued, the work authorized and the estimated cost of each job:

William Kozel Jr., to erect an addition to the Pleasant Heights Laundromat at 1437 Lisbon St., $35,000.

The S. H. Bell Co., to erect a commercial storage building at 2217 Michigan Ave., $15,000.

The Wallover Oil Co., to build oil storage tanks at 1141 1st Ave., $12,000.

Robert Pickering, to construct a new home on Highland Ave., $12,500.

Hubert Pridemore, to install a new roof on a home at 1812 Michigan Ave., $300.

W. C. Ross, to install paneling and wrought iron railing in a home at 831 Bradshaw Ave., $250.

Four permits were issued for razing of existing structures.

Barry Berman received authorization to tear down a structure at 335 W. 9th St.

Mike Pusateri, contractor, obtained permits to tear down two homes at St. Clair Ave. and Franklin St. and another at Franklin and Avondale Sts.

Retirement Action Slated At OEA Rally

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Education Association, winding up its annual convention here, was expected today to demand a better retirement program for teachers.

Due for consideration was a report recommending that the State Teachers Retirement System engage a nationally known actuary to make a comprehensive evaluation of the retirement fund for the purpose of broadening benefits.

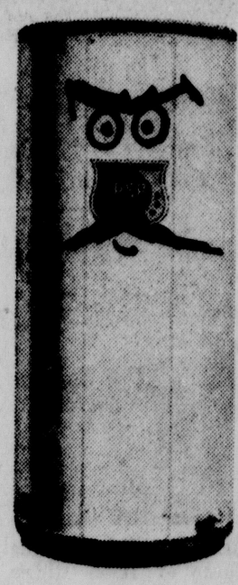

The association Friday elected Louis Koenig president, and approved an $11 increase in annual dues.

Koenig, a teacher from Oak Hills School District in Hamilton County, will assume office next December.

Waiting Wives Club Will Hold Yule Party

A Christmas party for wives and children of servicemen overseas will be held Dec. 15 at 6 p.m. in the Trinity United Presbyterian Church by the Waiting Wives Club.

Mrs. Clara Sell, president, said wives who do not have children are invited to bring a relative or friend's child. Santa Claus will attend. Parents are to bring gifts, with a child's name attached.

Just for a change, add lemon flavoring to sugar cookie dough. A half teaspoon of the flavoring will be enough for a recipe that calls for about 2½ cups of flour. Along with the flavoring you may also add a little grated lemon rind.

Jury Rejects $25,000 Suit

LISBON — A Common Pleas Court jury returned a verdict Friday in favor of Charles Glass of Route 45, Wellsville, the defendant in a $25,000 personal injury suit filed by Blaine McIntosh, 22, of Wellsville RD 1.

McIntosh sought damages for a fractured vertebra received Feb. 13, 1964, in a rear-end collison on Webber Way, a short distance west of Dresden Ave. in East Liverpool.

McIntosh and Glass, both of whom worked at the Hays Oil Co. at the time, had punched out at 10 p.m. and were on their way home. They took different routes to reach Dresden. McIntosh arrived at the Webber Way junction first, turned west and stopped for a hitchhiker.

Glass testified he was just a short distance behind and saw McIntosh turn from Dresden onto Webber Way. Glass said the light was green in his favor and he accelerated to turn onto Webber Way because there was a car approaching from the opposite direction on Dresden. He said he made the turn and suddenly saw the McIntosh car stopped about 20 feet ahead.

Glass said he turned to the right and the left front of his car hit the right rear of the stopped car. The impact knocked the McIntosh car forward just as the hitchhiker was starting to get in.

McIntosh towed the Glass car home. He said his back began to hurt a couple of days later and X-rays revealed the broken vertebra. He was in the hospital nearly seven weeks.

Glass said he was going about 20 miles an hour. One of his witnesses, a radiologist, testified he could find no sign of a fracture in X-ray plates of the plaintiff's back.

The trial began Tuesday. Judge Joel H. Sharp charged the jury yesterday.

Municipal Needs To Be Discussed

Hancock County is expected to be represented at a municipal and public affairs program to be held at Wheeling Tuesday for city and county officials.

The meeting will begin at 7 in the city - county building.

The topics will include problems of municipal finance, territorial jurisdiction and general municipal powers.

George Podelco, administrator of the program, said guest speakers will include:

Fairfax Brown, assessment-levy division of the West Virginia Tax Department; William R. Ross, executive director of the State League of Municipalities; Richard Shelton, executive director of the Association of County Officials, and J. Patrick Bower, assistant attorney general, who will be present to answer legal questions.

For lunchtime salad, toss greens with French dressing, hard - cooked eggs and anchovy fillets. Cut each anchovy into about four pieces before adding to the salad.

City Building Permits Rise In November

Permits for new building and remodeling estimated to cost $75,050 were issued in November by Mayor George E Willshaw's office, a gain of $59,070 from the $15,980 in October.

Only six permits were issued in November, but four were for comparatively major jobs. The office issued 16 permits in the preceding month, mostly for repair and renovation work.

The November permits, the persons to whom they were issued, the work authorized and the estimated cost of each job:

William Kozel Jr., to erect an addition to the Pleasant Heights Laundromat at 1437 Lisbon St., $35,000.

The S. H. Bell Co., to erect a commercial storage building at 2217 Michigan Ave., $15,000.

The Wallover Oil Co., to build oil storage tanks at 1141 1st Ave., $12,000.

Robert Pickering, to construct a new home on Highland Ave., $12,500.

Hubert Pridemore, to install a new roof on a home at 1812 Michigan Ave., $300.

W. C. Ross, to install paneling and wrought iron railing in a home at 831 Bradshaw Ave., $250.

Four permits were issued for razing of existing structures.

Barry Berman received authorization to tear down a structure at 335 W. 9th St.

Mike Pusateri, contractor, obtained permits to tear down two homes at St. Clair Ave. and Franklin St. and another at Franklin and Avondale Sts.

Retirement Action Slated At OEA Rally

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Education Association, winding up its annual convention here, was expected today to demand a better retirement program for teachers.

Due for consideration was a report recommending that the State Teachers Retirement System engage a nationally known actuary to make a comprehensive evaluation of the retirement fund for the purpose of broadening benefits.

The association Friday elected Louis Koenig president, and approved an $11 increase in annual dues.

Koenig, a teacher from Oak Hills School District in Hamilton County, will assume office next December.

THIS 10 POINT BUCK was shot Wednesday morning near Elkton by Russell Jordan of Shadyside Ave., left. Russ was hunting with his neighbor, James Reed, right, who failed to score. Russ downed the deer with one shot.

DEER HUNTERS HAVE BEEN having good success in Pennsylvania and Ohio.

Several nice bucks have been killed in this area, with a couple of 10-point racks registered in Columbiana County.

Russell Jordan of Shadyside Ave. scored with a large, 10-pointer Wednesday morning. He shot it in the area east of Elkton.

Russ says he plans to have the head mounted. He downed the buck with one shot from his 12-gauge pump gun with a rifle slug.

He was hunting with James Reed, a neighbor, who saw four does, but never got a shot at a buck.

ALMOST 20,000 bucks were shot in Pennsylvania on Monday, the first day of antlered season.

This is more than 5,000 more than taken on the opening day last year. The weather was very favorable and the Pennsylvania Game Commission estimates there were 700,000 hunters in the field. The commission expects a harvest of 650,000 deer this year.

Some nice deer were shot in Beaver County, with the Raccoon State Park and Brady's Run State Park areas heavily favored by hunters.

The antlered season in Pennsylvania continues through next Saturday. Antlerless deer will be legal targets on Dec. 11, 12 and 16.

THE SEASON ENDED Friday in Ohio. Although the official count has not yet been made, the heavy snow Thursday was expected to be a big boost to hunters. The one day buck and doe season in Ashtabula, Lake, Geauga, Mahoning, Portage, Stark, Summit and Trumbull Counties resulted in a harvest of more than 233 deer.

The lack of snow and of hunters made it difficult for those in the field to locate deer on the opening day. Many hunters "on stands" never saw deer because there were not enough hunters to cause the deer to move out of cover.

Most hunters reported an abundance of "deer sign."

FIVE DEER had been tagged in Columbiana County by Wednesday night. All were shot in Elkrun Township.

There were a great many hunters and several were getting shots, but not scoring, according to Ralph Drake, game protector.

Cy Wellman, a deputy sheriff, also got a nice deer. He shot his Monday.

BUCK REGISTERED. A deer shot in 1961 by Robert Trimble of Georgetown has been placed in Pennsylvania's official record book.

The rack scored 143-2 points under the Boone and Crockett Method, which is done in one-eighth inch units.

The rack ranks 77th in those entered in the second Pennsylvania Deer Records Awards program.

The scores of the winners are listed in the December issue of Pennsylvania Game News. A total of 167 certificates were awarded owners of deer heads with racks scoring 140 or more points.

SOMETIMES IT JUST DOESN'T PAY. One Ohio hunter shot a very nice buck near Akron this week.

Elated, he decided to stop on the way home at a certain establishment to get a little "stump blower" to clear his throat.

While inside calming his nerves and celebrating his victory, someone came along and stole the deer from the rear of his car.

It happened right in the city of Akron.

FOUR MEN in West Virginia were fined a total of $2,000 and sentenced to jail for illegal deer hunting.

They were caught "spotlighting" deer at night. All were from the Martinsburg area.

Game officials said all had firearms in their possession while using the lights, and also had two illegally killed does. They were apprehended in the Lost River section of Hardy County.

WITH COLD WEATHER already on us, now is a good time to consider the hazard of frostbite. Anyone who enjoys the outdoors should be aware of the steps to take should frostbite occur.

True frostbite means that the tissues are frozen. Crystals of ice form between the cells. Nerves, muscles and blood vessel tissues are most susceptible, according to the American Medical Association.

Frostbite can happen before you know it, and it isn't necessary for the temperature to be excessively low. Wind plays an important role. The chilling effect of air at 20 degrees moving at 45 miles an hour is the same as 40-below-zero air on a still day.

One of the dangers of frostbite is that you often don't feel it. The first thing you know is that someone else notices your ear or nose is turning white.

The frozen part becomes hard to the touch and loses feeling. Many sports leaders advocate a buddy system, each watching the other for telltale signs.

To prevent frostbite, first be certain you are properly dressed. Avoid overexertion and excessive perspiration. Avoid contact of bare flesh with cold metal. Don't drink alcohol or smoke.

In first aid, forget the old rule about rubbing the affected part with snow, and ignore the completely invalid caution against rapid thawing.

Don't massage or rub the frozen part. In fact, don't touch it at all. Begin rapid warming as soon as possible. A hot bath is excellent, but don't scald. Hot wet towels will help. They should be changed frequently and applied gently.

If no fire or hot water is at hand, place the victim in a sleeping bag or cover with coats and blankets. Hot liquids help raise the body temperature.

Prompt medical attention is important. The depth and degree of frozen tissue cannot be readily ascertained. The treatment varies with the severity of the frostbite.

Dress properly and use common sense about exposure in severe cold and most cases can be avoided.

SMALL GAME season — rabbit, pheasant and grouse — opened again today in Ohio after having been closed for five days because of deer season.

Rabbit season ends Dec. 16 on private land and Jan. 27 on state public hunting areas. Ringneck season is the same as rabbit. Grouse are legal targets until Feb. 24.

You can still hunt squirrel on state lands until Dec. 23.

BROTHERS SCORE. An 11-point buck was shot early Friday morning in the Fredericktown area by Andy Rohall and Paul Rohall of Irondale.

It took a shot by each to down the deer, estimated to weigh 220 pounds.

The rack had six points on one side and five on the other. Both said the snow from Thursday made it much easier to track and hunt deer.

Off The Record

By Ed Reed

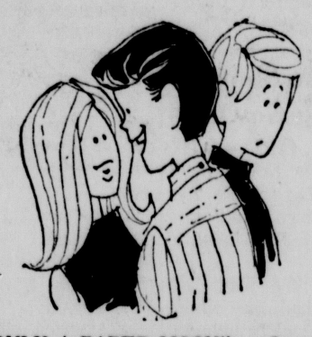

"If a young man is old enough to go steady, he should be able to dial her number."

The Younger Set

"Birds of a feather flock together" or so the saying goes . . . in these times of "hawks" and "doves" and politico pigeons, area students manage to gaze with quiet understanding at the toll taken by the war — and still reserve quite a bit of innocent merriment. So, with eyes sparkling with anticipation of Christmas, we have once again been able to get through another week of school.

SPEAKING OF BIRDS — and school — over at South Side High School don't be surprised if someone shouts, "the bird are coming!" during a basketball game. It seems that a few birds (the "Downy Dozen?") have rejected southern sunshine for a peek at our northern winter hinterland from the INSIDE of the gym! They didn't have a detrimental effect on the Rams, however, in that glorious victory over Burgettstown in the game Tuesday. Maybe the birds bring good luck to our men . . . Who knows, we may become the South Side Starlings! . . . "SPEAK" — If you call anyone at South Side, don't get shook up when the phone is answered by someone saying "Speak." Instead of the usual, "hello," this new greeting has been introduced. It sounds as if we've reverted to the cave men days . . . WHEW! — Try-outs for the play, "Meet Me in St. Louis," were held Wednesday night, finally. Everyone is awaiting the results including Sandy Doak, our Younger Set correspondent . . . ONLY IN THE MOVIES — Just like an ad for British Sterling aftershave, Carla Falk's "Sir Galahad" came to her rescue recently when her car "gave out" around Hookstown. All the way from Hookstown to Frankfort, the noble knight pushed the car. We'll bet Guinevere never had a more accommodating knight!

"IT'S ONLY A PAPER MOON" — Or a paper duck, or giraffe . . . well, at least that's the menagerie in Art I classes at East Liverpool High School! Students are working in papier-mache — a uncompromising combination of clay, glue and newspaper — and looking very much like a Bible School Art Class, or so Don Hancock says. If you have a friend in Art I, don't be surprised if you find a papier-mache moose peeking out of your Christmas stocking! . . . CHRISTMASGRAMS — The Keramos Echo newspaper is going to sell Christmas messages to the students who have a greeting to impart to one of their fellow students or teachers. For the low, low price of ten cents, you can let the whole school know that you wish that special someone a "Merry Christmas." In fact, you can send a letter to Jolly Ol' St. Nicholas for the same price for 25 words (or less!). Won't it be something to see who's trying to get whom under the mistletoe? Hm-m-m! . . . INTEGRATED INTEREST — The Junior Achievement Co., WSCC, is hereby congratulated for providing an enlightening view on sex education in the schools. The discussion broadcast Wednesday night included thoughts and suggestions by Miles W. Light, biology instructor at ELHS, Candy Burcham, Gayle Brammer, Donald Hancock Jr. and Jay Michaels, moderator. They concluded that the subject should not be withheld until high school, but should be integrated in regular classes, beginning in the first grade. Any questions or comments concerning the discussion should be directed to WSCC. . . . McVAY HONORED — Mike McVay was awarded the Bill Booth award Tuesday night at the annual football banquet. He also received the Most Valuable Player and Best Linebacker awards. There were some proud parents in that audience when not only McVay, but also Bill Jones, Mike Jackson, John Stepien, Bruce Christian, Sam Scott, Jim Bess, Earl Diddle and Bill Hopper went foreward to accept various honors and trophies. We're very proud of you, Potters.

SELECTIVE SERVICE — Wellsville Key Clubbers are looking over names for initiates who are "worthy" enough and lucky enough to be selected for membership. They will definitely need help when they start working on such projects as aiding the community, repairing toys for the needy children and being the best darned "do-gooders" in the area. We need more clubs like that, don't we? . . . BAND ON THE BALL — The Wellsville High School Band, after that long "vacation," came forth with a successful band dance. They kept the ball rolling by attending parades in East Liverpool and Toronto. Plans are being made to have a drill team to perform at half-time during the games . . . TIGER RAG — The first edition of the newspaper, Tiger Rag, will be published soon; watch for comments on the passage of the levy and Christmas "happenings." . . . GREAT-T-T-T TALES! — Tiger Tales, the yearbook, is fast becoming a "reality" from the work the yearbook staff is putting into it. Photos of the Freshman, Sophomore and Junior classes have been taken. The mighty seniors are trotting up to Horsley's Studios to have their pictures taken.

FACULTY FLEET FEET — The Girls' Leaders of Lincoln High School held a "faculty night" this week in the new gym with speedball and other "fast" games. The floor got an unexpected polishing that night from all the falls taken during the games . . . "EN RETARD DANCANT," SAY THE FRENCH — The French Club has announced a postponement for their Christmas dance. The group decided there were too many conflicting "dance" dates, and postponed the bash until Jan. 26 . . . FROM BATONS TO PAINTBRUSHES?— Only momentarily will the majorettes and drummers from the band trade their regular garb and gear for brushes when they paint the Majorette Room in the Forum soon . . . TAKEN ANY TRIPS? — Eighth grade students of the health class taught by Miss Eugenia O'Hara recently saw a movie on the drug, LSD. They agreed it was an impressive "trip." . . . TOUGH TESTS — John Bender, chemistry instructor, has been doling out some really tough tests lately. Gads, it's enough to unbalance our valences!

HA-A-C-C-CHOO! — Yeah, the "cold" season has reached the halls of Western Beaver High School, but don't bother reaching for any tissues when you sneeze — the Junior High Future Homemakers are using all of them to make Christmas wreaths! They are also making wreaths of pine cones and other materials . . . INDEPENDENT ART — Members of the elective Art Class are working independently of one another. The group, which has a certain number of projects to complete before the end of the year, has been given the go-ahead to work in copper jewelry, watercolors, oils, India ink and other arty facets . . . "MY BEAUTIFUL BALLOON" — When the school yearbook photographer appeared the other day, he was surprised to see Bob Longo Jr. prancing around with a huge yellow balloon. All day long, Bob had his head "in the clouds" — yes, his picture was taken! . . . YAWN, YAWN — If senior college English students were a little sleepy this morning during the College Board tests it was because they were working on a report of "Ivanhoe" for Friday. The group has been studying the work all this week.

NOW THAT'S NEWS! — Jack Swinderman, coach at East Palestine High School, is brimming with ideas to make the game better. He has asked the members of the Pep Band to play before and half-time at the home games. Scott Harris, the Younger Set correspondent, has been selected as EPHS's first announcer. Now we can hear, play-by-play! . . . 24 WEEKS OF SENIORSHIP LEFT — It's hard to imagine that, in only 24 weeks (which really isn't long, compared to 12 years of schooling) we'll not be seniors anymore, but, instead, members of the class that "was." . . . CITY SERIES — Wednesday, a group of men, 18 and over, will compete in a basketball league named the City Series and sponsored by several merchants and bankers. It was organized by Jim Harris, a college student who is preparing for a career as a physical education teacher . . . ". . . LOVE A PARADE" — East Palestine officially opened the Christmas season today with a parade and followed by the lighting of the Christmas lights lining the city streets.

AN APOLOGY — We made a goof last Saturday in the Younger Set column and Beaver Local High School (abbreviated "BLHS") Band came out "ELHS!" Egad, we apologize to you and yours, Bob Sprague, band director. The Beaver Local Band marched in the Kaufman Thanksgiving Day parade in Pittsburgh, and played "Jingle Bell Rock" to which they performed dance steps . . . PLAYERS NAMED TO FIRST CHAIRS — Concert band tryouts were held the beginning of the week, with musicians playing the nine major scales and the chromatic scale. Named to the "first" chairs of the sections were Gary Groubert, cornet; Bob Arnold, trombone; Marvin Hostetter, baritone; Kay Craig, also saxophone; Barbara Crawford, tenor saxophone; Johanna Smith, flute; Diane Davis, percussion; Cindy Cairns, clarinet; and Jeff Ward, tuba.

AT LISBON HIGH, a can of food will be the admission for a Leaders Club - Key Club speedball game at 7:30 tonight in the gym. The "Can-Can" event and the dance that follows are sponsored by the Y-Teens. The food goes to charity. OUTSIDERS sometimes wonder how it is LHS is also known as David Anderson High School. The explanation is on an engraved stone at the west entrance on W. Lincoln Way—"Dedicated to the memory of David Anderson, educator in Lisbon Schools, 1827-72." THE SECOND six-week grading period ended Friday and grade cards come out Dec. 8. Chin up! An attendance graph on the bulletin board shows absenteeism mounting as the Christmas holidays approach. Daily absences went over the 20 mark only three times the first six weeks and the high point was 25. The last six weeks, absences passed 20 on 16 days. Highs were 45 when hunting season opened two weeks ago and 37 yesterday.

You And The Law

Property Owner's Liability

One popular misconception of law is that everyone who is injured on another's property is entitled to recover all damages he may suffer from the owner of that property.

Property owners themselves often have this erroneous idea. It is not uncommon for a home owner, discussing an injury at his home, to remark, reluctantly, "Well, I guess I'm liable — the accident happened on my property."

does not produce the necessary fault for recovery.

A home owner owes his guests the duty only of refraining from willful and wanton misconduct, and of warning them of any hidden traps. He is under no obligation to use any active care for their safety, and, if they are injured, he generally has no obligation to make good their damages.

This is not the law. The concept of fault is still essential to a recovery for damages in all but a few specialized fields of law. Mere ownership of private property

A different rule applies to persons who come on one's property for the purpose of a business in which the owner is engaged. The owner owes these persons the duty of reasonable care for their safety.

Thus, one who operates a store is liable to his customers for injuries they sustain as a result of his negligence. He must do what a reasonable man would do under the same circumstances to provide for the care and safety of these so-called "invitees."

WITH COLD WEATHER already on us, now is a good time to consider the hazard of frostbite. Anyone who enjoys the outdoors should be aware of the steps to take should frostbite occur.

True frostbite means that the tissues are frozen. Crystals of ice form between the cells. Nerves, muscles and blood vessel tissues are most susceptible, according to the American Medical Association.

Frostbite can happen before you know it, and it isn't necessary for the temperature to be excessively low. Wind plays an important role. The chilling effect of air at 20 degrees moving at 45 miles an hour is the same as 40-below-zero air on a still day.

One of the dangers of frostbite is that you often don't feel it. The first thing you know is that someone else notices your ear or nose is turning white.

The frozen part becomes hard to the touch and loses feeling. Many sports leaders advocate a buddy system, each watching the other for telltale signs.

To prevent frostbite, first be certain you are properly dressed. Avoid overexertion and excessive perspiration. Avoid contact of bare flesh with cold metal. Don't drink alcohol or smoke.

In first aid, forget the old rule about rubbing the affected part with snow, and ignore the completely invalid caution against rapid thawing.

Don't massage or rub the frozen part. In fact, don't touch it at all. Begin rapid warming as soon as possible. A hot bath is excellent, but don't scald. Hot wet towels will help. They should be changed frequently and applied gently.

If no fire or hot water is at hand, place the victim in a sleeping bag or cover with coats and blankets. Hot liquids help raise the body temperature.

Prompt medical attention is important. The depth and degree of frozen tissue cannot be readily ascertained. The treatment varies with the severity of the frostbite.

Dress properly and use common sense about exposure in severe cold and most cases can be avoided.

SMALL GAME season — rabbit, pheasant and grouse — opened again today in Ohio after having been closed for five days because of deer season.

Rabbit season ends Dec. 16 on private land and Jan. 27 on state public hunting areas. Ringneck season is the same as rabbit. Grouse are legal targets until Feb. 24.

You can still hunt squirrel on state lands until Dec. 23.

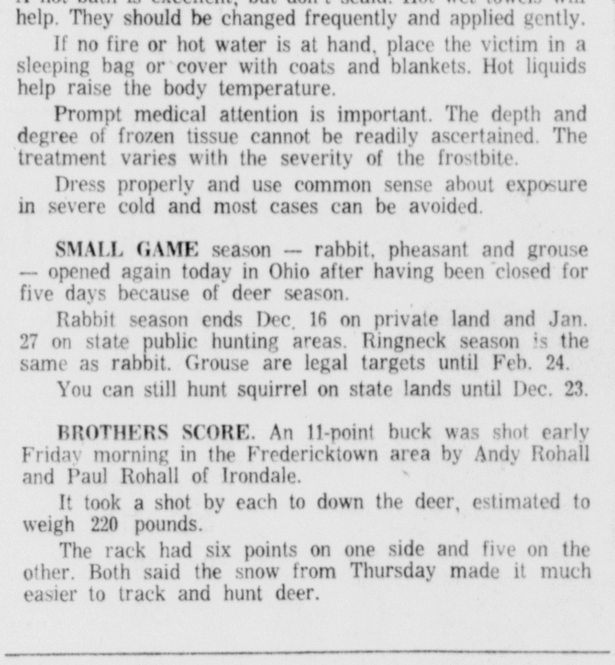

BROTHERS SCORE. An 11-point buck was shot early Friday morning in the Fredericktown area by Andy Rohall and Paul Rohall of Irondale.

It took a shot by each to down the deer, estimated to weigh 220 pounds.

The rack had six points on one side and five on the other. Both said the snow from Thursday made it much easier to track and hunt deer.

Off The Record

The Younger Set

"Birds of a feather flock together" or so the saying goes . . . in these times of "hawks" and "doves" and politico pigeons, area students manage to gaze with quiet understanding at the toll taken by the war — and still reserve quite a bit of innocent merriment. So, with eyes sparkling with anticipation of Christmas, we have once again been able to get through another week of school.

SPEAKING OF BIRDS — and school — over at South Side High School don't be surprised if someone shouts, "the bird are coming!" during a basketball game. It seems that a few birds (the "Downy Dozen?") have rejected southern sunshine for a peek at our northern winter hinterland from the INSIDE of the gym! They didn't have a detrimental effect on the Rams, however, in that glorious victory over Burgettstown in the game Tuesday. Maybe the birds bring good luck to our men . . . Who knows, we may become the South Side Starlings! . . . "SPEAK" — If you call anyone at South Side, don't get shook up when the phone is answered by someone saying "Speak." Instead of the usual, "hello," this new greeting has been introduced. It sounds as if we've reverted to the cave men days . . . WHEW! — Try-outs for the play, "Meet Me in St. Louis," were held Wednesday night, finally. Everyone is awaiting the results including Sandy Doak, our Younger Set correspondent . . . ONLY IN THE MOVIES — Just like an ad for British Sterling aftershave, Carla Falk's "Sir Galahad" came to her rescue recently when her car "gave out" around Hookstown. All the way from Hookstown to Frankfort, the noble knight pushed the car. We'll bet Guinevere never had a more accommodating knight!

"IT'S ONLY A PAPER MOON" — Or a paper duck, or giraffe . . . well, at least that's the menagerie in Art I classes at East Liverpool High School! Students are working in papier-mache — a uncompromising combination of clay, glue and newspaper — and looking very much like a Bible School Art Class, or so Don Hancock says. If you have a friend in Art I, don't be surprised if you find a papier-mache moose peeking out of your Christmas stocking! . . . CHRISTMASGRAMS — The Keramos Echo newspaper is going to sell Christmas messages to the students who have a greeting to impart to one of their fellow students or teachers. For the low, low price of ten cents, you can let the whole school know that you wish that special someone a "Merry Christmas." In fact, you can send a letter to Jolly Ol' St. Nicholas for the same price for 25 words (or less!). Won't it be something to see who's trying to get whom under the mistletoe? Hm-m-m! . . . INTEGRATED INTEREST — The Junior Achievement Co., WSCC, is hereby congratulated for providing an enlightening view on sex education in the schools. The discussion broadcast Wednesday night included thoughts and suggestions by Miles W. Light, biology instructor at ELHS, Candy Burcham, Gayle Brammer, Donald Hancock Jr. and Jay Michaels, moderator. They concluded that the subject should not be withheld until high school, but should be integrated in regular classes, beginning in the first grade. Any questions or comments concerning the discussion should be directed to WSCC. . . . McVAY HONORED — Mike McVay was awarded the Bill Booth award Tuesday night at the annual football banquet. He also received the Most Valuable Player and Best Linebacker awards. There were some proud parents in that audience when not only McVay, but also Bill Jones, Mike Jackson, John Stepien, Bruce Christian, Sam Scott, Jim Bess, Earl Diddle and Bill Hopper went foreward to accept various honors and trophies. We're very proud of you, Potters.

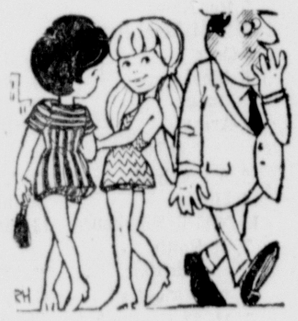

SELECTIVE SERVICE — Wellsville Key Clubbers are looking over names for initiates who are "worthy" enough and lucky enough to be selected for membership. They will definitely need help when they start working on such projects as aiding the community, repairing toys for the needy children and being the best darned "do-gooders" in the area. We need more clubs like that, don't we? . . . BAND ON THE BALL — The Wellsville High School Band, after that long "vacation," came forth with a successful band dance. They kept the ball rolling by attending parades in East Liverpool and Toronto. Plans are being made to have a drill team to perform at half-time during the games . . . TIGER RAG — The first edition of the newspaper, Tiger Rag, will be published soon; watch for comments on the passage of the levy and Christmas "happenings." . . . GREAT-T-T-T TALES! — Tiger Tales, the yearbook, is fast becoming a "reality" from the work the yearbook staff is putting into it. Photos of the Freshman, Sophomore and Junior classes have been taken. The mighty seniors are trotting up to Horsley's Studios to have their pictures taken.

FACULTY FLEET FEET — The Girls' Leaders of Lincoln High School held a "faculty night" this week in the new gym with speedball and other "fast" games. The floor got an unexpected polishing that night from all the falls taken during the games . . . "EN RETARD DANCANT," SAY THE FRENCH — The French Club has announced a postponement for their Christmas dance. The group decided there were too many conflicting "dance" dates, and postponed the bash until Jan. 26 . . . FROM BATONS TO PAINTBRUSHES?— Only momentarily will the majorettes and drummers from the band trade their regular garb and gear for brushes when they paint the Majorette Room in the Forum soon . . . TAKEN ANY TRIPS? — Eighth grade students of the health class taught by Miss Eugenia O'Hara recently saw a movie on the drug, LSD. They agreed it was an impressive "trip." . . . TOUGH TESTS — John Bender, chemistry instructor, has been doling out some really tough tests lately. Gads, it's enough to unbalance our valences!

HA-A-C-C-CHOO! — Yeah, the "cold" season has reached the halls of Western Beaver High School, but don't bother reaching for any tissues when you sneeze — the Junior High Future Homemakers are using all of them to make Christmas wreaths! They are also making wreaths of pine cones and other materials . . . INDEPENDENT ART — Members of the elective Art Class are working independently of one another. The group, which has a certain number of projects to complete before the end of the year, has been given the go-ahead to work in copper jewelry, watercolors, oils, India ink and other arty facets . . . "MY BEAUTIFUL BALLOON" — When the school yearbook photographer appeared the other day, he was surprised to see Bob Longo Jr. prancing around with a huge yellow balloon. All day long, Bob had his head "in the clouds" — yes, his picture was taken! . . . YAWN, YAWN — If senior college English students were a little sleepy this morning during the College Board tests it was because they were working on a report of "Ivanhoe" for Friday. The group has been studying the work all this week.

NOW THAT'S NEWS! — Jack Swinderman, coach at East Palestine High School, is brimming with ideas to make the game better. He has asked the members of the Pep Band to play before and half-time at the home games. Scott Harris, the Younger Set correspondent, has been selected as EPHS's first announcer. Now we can hear, play-by-play! . . . 24 WEEKS OF SENIORSHIP LEFT — It's hard to imagine that, in only 24 weeks (which really isn't long, compared to 12 years of schooling) we'll not be seniors anymore, but, instead, members of the class that "was." . . . CITY SERIES — Wednesday, a group of men, 18 and over, will compete in a basketball league named the City Series and sponsored by several merchants and bankers. It was organized by Jim Harris, a college student who is preparing for a career as a physical education teacher . . . ". . . LOVE A PARADE" — East Palestine officially opened the Christmas season today with a parade and followed by the lighting of the Christmas lights lining the city streets.

AN APOLOGY — We made a goof last Saturday in the Younger Set column and Beaver Local High School (abbreviated "BLHS") Band came out "ELHS!" Egad, we apologize to you and yours, Bob Sprague, band director. The Beaver Local Band marched in the Kaufman Thanksgiving Day parade in Pittsburgh, and played "Jingle Bell Rock" to which they performed dance steps . . . PLAYERS NAMED TO FIRST CHAIRS — Concert band tryouts were held the beginning of the week, with musicians playing the nine major scales and the chromatic scale. Named to the "first" chairs of the sections were Gary Groubert, cornet; Bob Arnold, trombone; Marvin Hostetter, baritone; Kay Craig, also saxophone; Barbara Crawford, tenor saxophone; Johanna Smith, flute; Diane Davis, percussion; Cindy Cairns, clarinet; and Jeff Ward, tuba.

AT LISBON HIGH, a can of food will be the admission for a Leaders Club - Key Club speedball game at 7:30 tonight in the gym. The "Can-Can" event and the dance that follows are sponsored by the Y-Teens. The food goes to charity. OUTSIDERS sometimes wonder how it is LHS is also known as David Anderson High School. The explanation is on an engraved stone at the west entrance on W. Lincoln Way—"Dedicated to the memory of David Anderson, educator in Lisbon Schools, 1827-72." THE SECOND six-week grading period ended Friday and grade cards come out Dec. 8. Chin up! An attendance graph on the bulletin board shows absenteeism mounting as the Christmas holidays approach. Daily absences went over the 20 mark only three times the first six weeks and the high point was 25. The last six weeks, absences passed 20 on 16 days. Highs were 45 when hunting season opened two weeks ago and 37 yesterday.

You And The Law

Property Owner's Liability

One popular misconception of law is that everyone who is injured on another's property is entitled to recover all damages he may suffer from the owner of that property.

Property owners themselves often have this erroneous idea. It is not uncommon for a home owner, discussing an injury at his home, to remark, reluctantly, "Well, I guess I'm liable — the accident happened on my property." does not produce the necessary fault for recovery.

A home owner owes his guests the duty only of refraining from willful and wanton misconduct, and of warning them of any hidden traps. He is under no obligation to use any active care for their safety, and, if they are injured, he generally has no obligation to make good their damages.

This is not the law. The concept of fault is still essential to a recovery for damages in all but a few specialized fields of law. Mere ownership of private property

A different rule applies to persons who come on one's property for the purpose of a business in which the owner is engaged. The owner owes these persons the duty of reasonable care for their safety.

Thus, one who operates a store is liable to his customers for injuries they sustain as a result of his negligence. He must do what a reasonable man would do under the same circumstances to provide for the care and safety of these so-called "invitees."

Police Lodge Collects Toys To Aid Needy

Fraternal Order of Police Lodge 29 today launched a city-wide collection of unused toys for distribution to children of needy families at Christmas.

Officers said the toys should be taken to police headquarters at City Hall. Time is too short to permit major repairs or repainting, members of the lodge said, explaining that they prefer donations of toys which need little or no work before they are passed on to youngsters.

Pickup will be arranged in extreme cases where the donor has no available transportation, officers added.

The FOP will store the toys at headquarters, meanwhile obtaining a list of worthy families needing aid.

"Despite the generally prosperous condition of the area, we know there are many families —victims of circumstances — who would be unable to provide a proper Christmas observance for their youngsters without outside aid," an FOP spokesman said.

"The police department is determined that Santa Claus will not overlook a single child in East Liverpool if we can help it. We ask that families check through their children's toys, sort out the ones that have been discarded or are seldom used, and then bring them to the police station to help make some other youngster's Christmas a little brighter."

Sahl Fails To Show, Play Doesn't Go On

NEW YORK (AP) — The scheduled opening Friday night of the off-Broadway show "An Evening With Mort Sahl," was cancelled because Sahl failed to appear.

The show, at the East 74th street Theater, had five others in the cast. Michael Brandman, producer, said the 40-year-old Sahl, after rehearsing for several weeks, did not appear for Thursday's dress rehearsal and that he was told Sahl was in California.

At the theater Friday night, 299 persons were given back their money. Said Brandman: "We have been hung up good by Sahl."

Soviet Divorce Problem Stirs Teacher's Concern

By ANTHONY C. COLLINGS
Associated Press Writer

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union has growing problems with divorce and broken homes, a Soviet philosophy teacher says, and he gives a main cause as a failure by young people to see the difference between sex and love.

The broken homes result in "new cases of hooliganism, drunkenness and other social ills," teacher U. Sidorenko wrote Friday in Komsomolskaya Pravda, voice of the Communist Youth League.

He also blamed a "loss of feelings" and charged that Soviet schools encourage children to be overly cold and rational, rather than "cultivating emotions."

In a Volga farm region northeast of Moscow, he indicated, 26 per cent of all marriages ended in divorce last year, a sharp jump from 16 per cent the year before.

While giving a frank look at family problems that usually are hushed up in the Soviet Union, Sidorenko did not report the national divorce rate. He said that, in general, "the relative number of divorces is growing."

Up-to-date national figures are hard to come by. The most recent official statistic, for 1965, shows 18.2 per cent of Soviet marriages ending on the rocks. Sidorenko's comparable 1965 figure for the Kostroma area was 16 per cent.

A Soviet scientist said last year, in reporting an earlier rate of 11 per cent, that most divorces were caused by drunkenness.

A new law last year making divorce easier was another factor possibly explaining the rapid rise in the reported rate, observers said.

In America about one out of every four marriages ends in divorce.

"Love lies at the basis of any great accomplishments," Sidorenko said, adding: "One way or another, man's happiness is connected with sex questions."

Soviet young people think love is the basis for their marriages, he said, "but far from everyone who gets married for what he thought was love really felt this lofty emotion.

"Alas, very frequently a person turns out to be unprepared and considers love to be the ordinary sex impulse."

Sidorenko called for special marriage-preparation courses, to be taught in the second year of the Soviet equivalent of college.

He did not elaborate, but presumably the course would include sex education, a controversial subject here. He complained that high schools avoid this "extremely delicate" subject.

The Soviet Union has experimented in a few cities with requiring six-month waiting periods for engaged couples before they marry, to see if their feelings can stand the test of time.

Sidorenko said another problem affecting the divorce rate was the hardship over Soviet women, most of whom work to supplement their husband's relatively low wages.

Pitt Chancellor Warns Of 'Cuts' In Fund Appeal

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The chancellor of the University of Pittsburgh has called on legislators to end the budget and tax hassle before it imperils Pitt and Penn State branch campuses.

Dr. Wesley W. Posvar outlined the possible cutbacks Pitt would have to make if its funds aren't released and said, "None of these will occur if the people of Pennsylvania can persuade legislators to place the whole commonwealth ahead of any party or local interest."

"This means members of both parties will have to vote for taxes they don't like," Posvar said.

Appropriations for Pitt, Penn State, and the state's three other state - related universities have been held back because of a legislative fight over Gov. Raymond Shafer's tax and budget programs. Pitt said it needs about $28 million.

Posvar said if the funds don't come Pitt's four regional campuses will go on the chopping block "and Penn State's 22 regional campuses—every one of them — are in the same jeopardy."

Pitt has about 1,000 students at Johnstown and 200 on each of its branch campuses at Greensburg, Titusville and Bradford.

Without state funds, Posvar said, Pitt could be forced to eliminate the campuses, increase tuition, eliminate some schools at the main campus, freeze enrollment or cancel expansion programs.

Judiciary, Local Rule Seen As Key Issues At Convention

By VINCENT P. CAROCCI

HARRISBURG (AP) — Former Gov. William W. Scranton said today he expected the judicial and local government articles of the Constitution of 1874 to stir up the most controversy for the delegates to the Consitutional Convention in 1967.

"But remember that it was strong controversy that led to a strong federal constitution almost two centuries ago," commented the former Republican chief executive, who was elected as a delegate from Lackawanna County to Pennsylvania's first convention in 94 years.

"I anticipate that there will be a good deal of arguing over the judiciary, especially the minor judiciary," Scranton observed.

"Local government also should prove contentious. But that's all to the good. For, without healthy debate, I don't know that the delegates can write a sound constitution."

Scranton was seated inconspicuously in the middle of the House of Representatives chamber Friday when Gov. Shafer, who served as his lieutenant governor, called the convention to order.

Shafer declared: "As your proceedings off by imploring the delegates to forget their political affiliations and make "an heroic effort to forsake the selfish interests of today for the universal interests of tomorrow."

Shafer deliared: "As your governor, I urge you to keep divisive partisan elements out of your deliberations. Agree or disagree as Pennsylvanians, not as Republicans, Democrats or independents."

The delegates took Shafer's advice by electing a bipartisan slate of officers headed by Republican Lt. Gov. Raymond J. Broderick as president; Democrats Robert P. Casey and James Michener as first vice president and secretary; and Frank A. Orban, Somerset, second vice president.

The bipartisan atmosphere, sources said, came close to being shattered before the convention opened with the report that Southeastern Pennsylvania Republicans were seeking an all-GOP slate of officers. The move was quashed by their own party leaders, it was confided.

Broderick and Casey acknowledged they had heard of the report, but said they saw no evidence to substantiate it.

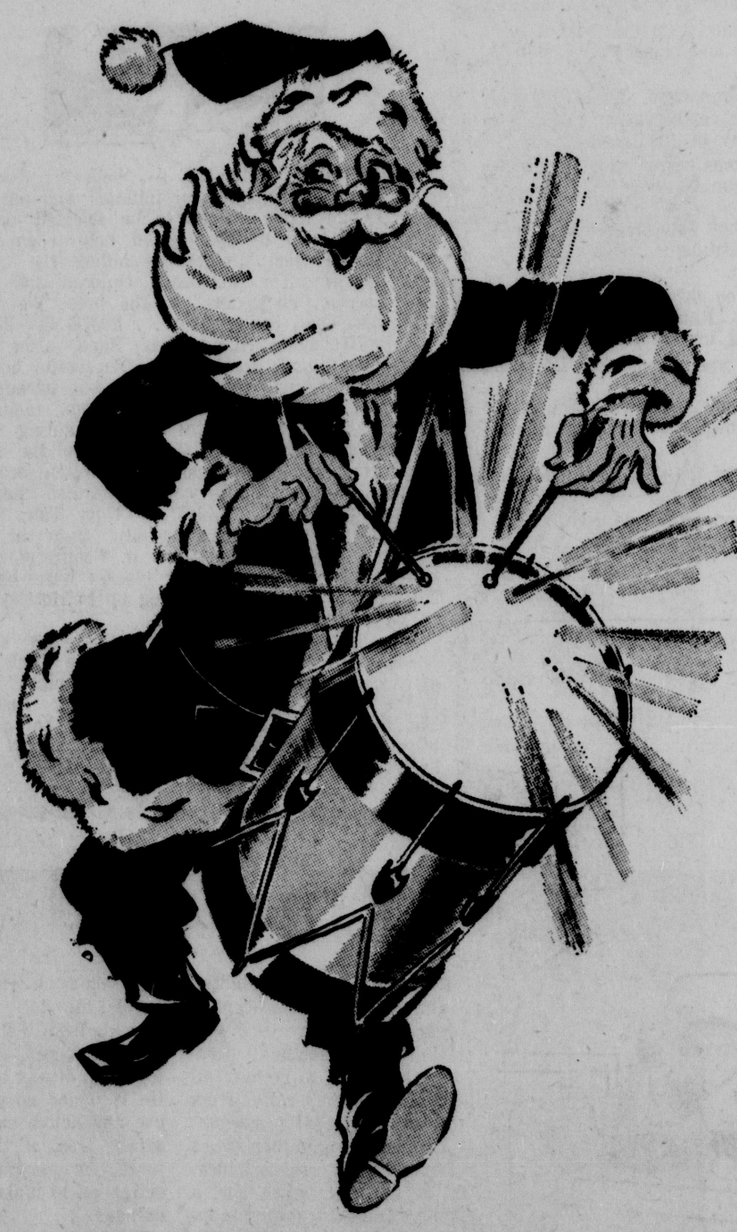

About 90 per cent of American adults suffer from foot trouble of one kind or another.

Police Lodge Collects Toys To Aid Needy

Fraternal Order of Police Lodge 29 today launched a city-wide collection of unused toys for distribution to children of needy families at Christmas.

Officers said the toys should be taken to police headquarters at City Hall. Time is too short to permit major repairs or repainting, members of the lodge said, explaining that they prefer donations of toys which need little or no work before they are passed on to youngsters.

Pickup will be arranged in extreme cases where the donor has no available transportation, officers added.

The FOP will store the toys at headquarters, meanwhile obtaining a list of worthy families needing aid.

"Despite the generally prosperous condition of the area, we know there are many families —victims of circumstances — who would be unable to provide a proper Christmas observance for their youngsters without outside aid," an FOP spokesman said.

"The police department is determined that Santa Claus will not overlook a single child in East Liverpool if we can help it. We ask that families check through their children's toys, sort out the ones that have been discarded or are seldom used, and then bring them to the police station to help make some other youngster's Christmas a little brighter."

Sahl Fails To Show, Play Doesn't Go On

NEW YORK (AP) — The scheduled opening Friday night of the off-Broadway show "An Evening With Mort Sahl," was cancelled because Sahl failed to appear.

The show, at the East 74th street Theater, had five others in the cast. Michael Brandman, producer, said the 40-year-old Sahl, after rehearsing for several weeks, did not appear for Thursday's dress rehearsal and that he was told Sahl was in California.

At the theater Friday night, 299 persons were given back their money. Said Brandman: "We have been hung up good by Sahl."

Lack Of Sex Education Cited

Soviet Divorce Problem Stirs Teacher's Concern

By ANTHONY C. COLLINGS
Associated Press Writer

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union has growing problems with divorce and broken homes, a Soviet philosophy teacher says, and he gives a main cause as a failure by young people to see the difference between sex and love.

The broken homes result in "new cases of hooliganism, drunkenness and other social ills," teacher U. Sidorenko wrote Friday in Komsomolskaya Pravda, voice of the Communist Youth League.

He also blamed a "loss of feelings" and charged that Soviet schools encourage children to be overly cold and rational, rather than "cultivating emotions."

In a Volga farm region northeast of Moscow, he indicated, 26 per cent of all marriages ended in divorce last year, a sharp jump from 16 per cent the year before.

While giving a frank look at family problems that usually are hushed up in the Soviet Union, Sidorenko did not report the national divorce rate. He said that, in general, "the relative number of divorces is growing."

Up-to-date national figures are hard to come by. The most recent official statistic, for 1965, shows 18.2 per cent of Soviet marriages ending on the rocks. Sidorenko's comparable 1965 figure for the Kostroma area was 16 per cent.

A Soviet scientist said last year, in reporting an earlier rate of 11 per cent, that most divorces were caused by drunkenness.

A new law last year making divorce easier was another factor possibly explaining the rapid rise in the reported rate, observers said.

In America about one out of every four marriages ends in divorce.

"Love lies at the basis of any great accomplishments," Sidorenko said, adding: "One way or another, man's happiness is connected with sex questions."

Soviet young people think love is the basis for their marriages he said, "but far from everyone who gets married for what he thought was love really felt this lofty emotion.

"Alas, very frequently a person turns out to be unprepared and considers love to be the ordinary sex impulse."

Sidorenko called for special marriage-preparation courses, to be taught in the second year of the Soviet equivalent of college.

He did not elaborate, but presumably the course would include sex education, a controversial subject here. He complained that high schools avoid this "extremely delicate" subject.

The Soviet Union has experimented in a few cities with requiring six-month waiting periods for engaged couples before they marry, to see if their feelings can stand the test of time.

Sidorenko said another problem affecting the divorce rate was the hardship over Soviet women, most of whom work to supplement their husband's relatively low wages.

Pitt Chancellor Warns Of 'Cuts' In Fund Appeal

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The chancellor of the University of Pittsburgh has called on legislators to end the budget and tax hassle before it imperils Pitt and Penn State branch campuses.

Dr. Wesley W. Posvar outlined the possible cutbacks Pitt would have to make if its funds aren't released and said, "None of these will occur if the people of Pennsylvania can persuade legislators to place the whole commonwealth ahead of any party or local interest."

"This means members of both parties will have to vote for taxes they don't like," Posvar said.

Appropriations for Pitt, Penn State, and the state's three other state - related universities have been held back because of a legislative fight over Gov. Raymond Shafer's tax and budget programs. Pitt said it needs about $28 million.

Posvar said if the funds don't come Pitt's four regional campuses will go on the chopping block "and Penn State's 22 regional campuses—every one of them — are in the same jeopardy."

Pitt has about 1,000 students at Johnstown and 200 on each of its branch campuses at Greensburg, Titusville and Bradford.

Without state funds, Posvar said, Pitt could be forced to eliminate the campuses, increase tuition, eliminate some schools at the main campus, freeze enrollment or cancel expansion programs.

Judiciary, Local Rule Seen As Key Issues At Convention

By VINCENT P. CAROCCI

HARRISBURG (AP) — Former Gov. William W. Scranton said today he expected the judicial and local government articles of the Constitution of 1874 to stir up the most controversy for the delegates to the Consitutional Convention in 1967.

"But remember that it was strong controversy that led to a strong federal constitution almost two centuries ago," commented the former Republican chief executive, who was elected as a delegate from Lackawanna County to Pennsylvania's first convention in 94 years.

"I anticipate that there will be a good deal of arguing over the judiciary, especially the minor judiciary," Scranton observed.

"Local government also should prove contentious. But that's all to the good. For, without healthy debate, I don't know that the delegates can write a sound constitution."

Scranton was seated inconspicuously in the middle of the House of Representatives chamber Friday when Gov. Shafer, who served as his lieutenant governor, called the convention to order.

Shafer declared: "As your proceedings off by imploring the delegates to forget their political affiliations and make "an heroic effort to forsake the selfish interests of today for the universal interests of tomorrow."

Shafer deliared: "As your governor, I urge you to keep divisive partisan elements out of your deliberations. Agree or disagree as Pennsylvanians, not as Republicans, Democrats or independents."

Personalities In The News

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — Darrow "Darry" Stemple, 17, critically burned last July 9 in a gasoline fire at a service station in Rawlins, Wyo., took his first step Friday and may be home for Christmas, his physician said.

The physician, not identified, said the youth probably is alive because of an experimental drug called sulfamyion said to control infection caused by burns.

Stemple was flown to Presbyterian Medical Center here after the accident. When he was out of danger, doctors began skin grafts. Now he is strengthening his muscles in the hope of getting home for the holiday.

HERSTMONCEUX, England (AP) — Queen Elizabeth II dedicated Britain's newest, biggest telescope Friday night in elaborate ceremonies, but a steady rain blotted out her scheduled look at the planet Saturn.

The $2.4 million Isaac Newton telescope, billed as the largest in western Europe, is said to be capable of magnifying Saturn 500 times.

In informal remarks, the queen said, "It is often said that our most brilliant young men are tempted to leave the country and join the brain drain because of the lack of first class equipment for them to work with here.

"The Isaac Newton telescope is a move to counter this insofar as astronomy is concerned."

ROME (AP) — Princess Maria Beatrice of Savoy, thwarted in her attempts to marry her actor boyfriend, Maurizio Arona, went into court Friday and asked her cousin, King Baudouin of Belgium, and other royal relatives to declare her competent to choose a husband.

The 24-year-old Princess' aunt, Princess Iolanda Cavi di Bergole, has asked the court to declare her niece mentally weak and unable to decide for herself.

Arona, 34, was said to be an actor with few roles and many debts. The princess and Arona said they tried to marry in Spain, Britain and France since last September but had troubles with documents.

OXFORD, England (AP) Geraldine Jones, 21-year-old daughter of a Liverpool schoolteacher, has been elected the first woman president of Oxford Union—famed debating society of Britain's Oxford University.

Miss Jones, a pretty brunette in her third year at Oxford, said later: "I would like to think that it was not the fact that I am a girl that helped me to get in."

Rather, she said, "I would like to think that my election was the result of the speeches made at the presidential debate."

Father, 3 Sons In Service To Miss Christmas At Home

GOLDSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Julia Stillwell's husband and three sons will miss Christmas at their North Carolina home this year because all four are in the armed services—two in Vietnam and another on his way to the combat zone.

T. Sgt. William R. Stillwell retired from the Air Force in 1963 after 23 years service. He re-enlisted and volunteered for combat duty as the Vietnam war escalated and after his two oldest sons were drafted into the Army last year.

Billy Stillwell, 21, has been serving in Vietnam since March and Bobby Stillwell, 20, received orders this week to depart for the combat zone.

Jack Stillwell, 18, enlisted in the Army Monday.

Mrs. Stillwell, who makes her home at Rt. 2, Goldsboro, said her husband told her in a recent letter: "Maybe Billy and I can be together for Christmas, since you will have the other two boys." He had not learned of Bobby's orders or Jack's enlistment.

Mrs. Stillwell says she has occasional pangs of loneliness but refuses to complain. Her sacrifice, she says, is small when compared to the sacrifices made by her husband and sons and other Americans fighting in Southeast Asia.

She said Billy, in his most recent letter, bolstered her courage when he wrote: "If you could just see what we are fighting for here, you would be able to understand this war. We're so lucky to be living in a free country."

Students Bound Over In Marijuana Charge

SALINA, Kan. (AP) — Four Kansas Wesleyan students were bound over to district court Friday for trial on charges of illegal possession of marijuana.

Those bound over included Melvin Rose, 19, Beaver, Pa.

Tickle overruled motions of Rose ad two others for suppression of evidence. They contended officers illegally searched their quarters to obtain evidence.

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — Darrow "Darry" Stemple, 17, critically burned last July 9 in a gasoline fire at a service station in Rawlins, Wyo., took his first step Friday and may be home for Christmas, his physician said.

The physician, not identified, said the youth probably is alive because of an experimental drug called sulfamyion said to control infection caused by burns.

Stemple was flown to Presbyterian Medical Center here after the accident. When he was out of danger, doctors began skin grafts. Now he is strengthening his muscles in the hope of getting home for the holiday.

HERSTMONCEUX, England (AP) — Queen Elizabeth II dedicated Britain's newest, biggest telescope Friday night in elaborate ceremonies, but a steady rain blotted out her scheduled look at the planet Saturn.

The $2.4 million Isaac Newton telescope, billed as the largest in western Europe, is said to be capable of magnifying Saturn 500 times.

In informal remarks, the queen said, "It is often said that our most brilliant young men are tempted to leave the country and join the brain drain because of the lack of first class equipment for them to work with here.

"The Isaac Newton telescope is a move to counter this insofar as astronomy is concerned."

ROME (AP) — Princess Maria Beatrice of Savoy, thwarted in her attempts to marry her actor boyfriend, Maurizio Arona, went into court Friday and asked her cousin, King Baudouin of Belgium, and other royal relatives to declare her competent to choose a husband.

The 24-year-old Princess' aunt, Princess Iolanda Cavi di Bergole, has asked the court to declare her niece mentally weak and unable to decide for herself.

Arona, 34, was said to be an actor with few roles and many debts. The princess and Arona said they tried to marry in Spain, Britain and France since last September but had troubles with documents.

OXFORD, England (AP) Geraldine Jones, 21-year-old daughter of a Liverpool schoolteacher, has been elected the first woman president of Oxford Union—famed debating society of Britain's Oxford University.

Miss Jones, a pretty brunette in her third year at Oxford, said later: "I would like to think that it was not the fact that I am a girl that helped me to get in."

Rather, she said, "I would like to think that my election was the result of the speeches made at the presidential debate."

Father, 3 Sons In Service To Miss Christmas At Home

GOLDSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Julia Stillwell's husband and three sons will miss Christmas at their North Carolina home this year because all four are in the armed services—two in Vietnam and another on his way to the combat zone.

T. Sgt. William R. Stillwell retired from the Air Force in 1963 after 23 years service. He re-enlisted and volunteered for combat duty as the Vietnam war escalated and after his two oldest sons were drafted into the Army last year.

Billy Stillwell, 21, has been serving in Vietnam since March and Bobby Stillwell, 20, received orders this week to depart for the combat zone.

Jack Stillwell, 18, enlisted in the Army Monday.

Mrs. Stillwell, who makes her home at Rt. 2, Goldsboro, said her husband told her in a recent letter: "Maybe Billy and I can be together for Christmas, since you will have the other two boys." He had not learned of Bobby's orders or Jack's enlistment.

Mrs. Stillwell says she has occasional pangs of loneliness but refuses to complain. Her sacrifice, she says, is small when compared to the sacrifices made by her husband and sons and other Americans fighting in Southeast Asia.

She said Billy, in his most recent letter, bolstered her courage when he wrote: "If you could just see what we are fighting for here, you would be able to understand this war. We're so lucky to be living in a free country."

Students Bound Over In Marijuana Charge

SALINA, Kan. (AP) — Four Kansas Wesleyan students were bound over to district court Friday for trial on charges of illegal possession of marijuana.

Those bound over included Melvin Rose, 19, Beaver, Pa.

Tickle overruled motions of Rose ad two others for suppression of evidence. They contended officers illegally searched their quarters to obtain evidence.

Tigers Upset Midland; Beaver Local Drubs Western

The Review Sports

SATURDAY, DECEMBER 2, 1967 EAST LIVERPOOL REVIEW PAGE 12

McClain Paces 49-48 Triumph

By TURK PIERCE
Review Sports Editor

The Midland Leopards and the Wellsville Tigers got together at Wellsville last night and engaged in a battle as ferocious as any jungle fray, with the home team pulling a 49-48 upset.

The forces of Bob Dawson, who chalked up a win in his first start as Wellsville coach, took the lead early in the second half and never relinquished it, though the Midland press gave them some anxious moments near the end. Ed Olkowski's club is now 1-1. The victory was the first for Wellsville over Midland since 1950.

Tom McClain was high scorer for the winners with 15 points, but even more important he snagged a game-high 18 rebounds. The Tigers outrebounded the shorter Leopards 50-36, the key statistic of the game. Each team made 23 field goals, Wellsville on 59 shots for 39 per cent and Midland on 61 shots for 37.7 per cent, so the home team, despite making a poor 25 percent of its foul shots, won the game from the foul line with 3 for 12. Midland attempted only five foul shots, making two.

Dawson said he didn't think Wellsville played too well on offense, but the Bengals made few mistakes until the wild last period, when they committed eight of their game total of 12 turnovers. Midland made nine turnovers, four in the last period.

Jerry Wyse, connecting on jump shots, netted 14 points for Wellsville and Paul Hood added 10. Dan Sedar grabbed 11 rebounds.

Midland's Howard Leak had 23 points to take game honors, while Dave Vanlier added 11 and Bob Needs 10. Needs led the Leopards with 10 rebounds.

Midland never trailed in the first period and once led 11-6, their biggest margin of the game. Leak, driving well and also hitting from the outside, had eight markers in this period. Wellsville caught up in the second period and led by as much as three, but a shot at the buzzer by Leak gave Midland a 28-26 halftime lead.

Three quick buckets, two by Hood, gave Wellsville the lead for good as the third period opened, and they built the margin to 42-36 at the end of the stanza. But the Leopards got two quick baskets because of their press to stay in the game. The Tigers led 47-42 with 2:40 to go, but Leak connected twice to make it 47-46 with two minutes left. McClain got a tap-in to give Wellsville some breathing room, and the Tigers got the ball and went into a stall. The ball was lost and Ray Cerasi hit his lone bucket of the night to get the visitors within one again with 40 seconds left. Vanlier fouled Mark Powell with 32 seconds showing, and Powell missed and Midland got the ball. The Leopards missed a shot and McClain came up with the rebound, but once again the pressure defense got the ball back for Midland.

With five seconds left Leak tried to drive the baseline, but could only get off an awkward shot and Hood came down with the final rebound of the game.

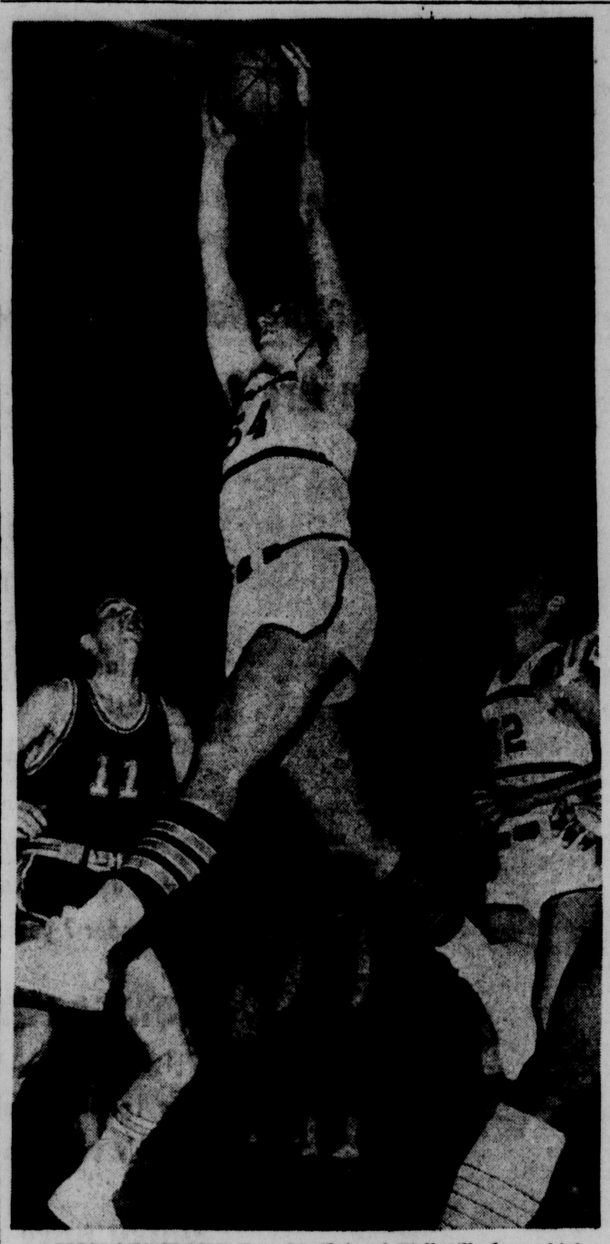

Wellsville was also victorious in the reserve game, 52-38. John Bolialich got 23 points and 13 rebounds to pace Wellsville and Joe Deangelo added 10 points. Tom Vanlier led Midland with 16.

Tonight Wellsville travels to Beaver Local for a Buckeye Border Conference game while Midland hosts Coraopolis Tuesday.

Last night's game served as a warmup for tonight's meeting with Wellsville. Beaver Local will host the improved Tigers who defeated Midland in another opening game Friday.

Stanton Edged 58-54 By Tall Wayne Wolves

Stanton Local dropped its opening basketball game of the season at Stanton last night, 58-54 to Wayne.

The Red Raiders led by two with 2:50 to go, but Wayne paraded to the foul line successfully eight times in the final period to pull out the decision. Stanton had more field goals, 22-19, but lost the game at the foul line. The forces of Dave Murray were also hurt when Bill Koehnlein fouled out near the end of the third period, giving 6-7 Gary Davenport more room to maneuver for the Wolves. He led all scorers with 19, despite a good defensive job by Cliff Slusher, who kept Davenport away from the basket most of the time. Tom Harvey added 13 and Jim Doakes 10 for the winners.

Slusher paced Stanton with 17, Randy Frampton had 12 and Jack Byers 11. The game was close all the way, with six points being the biggest margin for Wayne and three points the biggest lead for Stanton. The Red Raiders are at Brilliant tonight.

Alcindor, UCLA Open With Purdue; Unseld's 45 Sparks Louisville Win

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Westley Unseld of Louisville has set a goal of 45 points for UCLA's Lew Alcindor to shoot at tonight when the national collegiate basketball champions open their season at Purdue.

Unseld, picked on the 1967 All-America with Alcindor, set a Louisville one-game record as the nationally third-ranked Cardinals whipped Georgetown, Ky., 118-66 at home as the college season opened officially Friday night.

Alcindor, the 7-foot-1 Player of the Year last season when he led UCLA through an unbeaten season, scored 56 points against Southern California in his first varsity game as a sophomore.

A sellout crowd of 14,500 is expected at Purdue's new campus gym to see how many big Lew will tally against the Boilermakers in his first game as a junior.

Princeton's Ivy League champs, ranked eighth to UCLA in the pre-season AP poll, rallied for a 62-59 victory over Army, and the 10th-ranked Davidson Wildcats also chalked up an opening home court by drubbing Bucknell 91-70.

Temple shattered Creighton's record of not having lost a home opener in 32 years by whipping the Blue Jays, 87-79 at Omaha, Neb.

Duke downed Virginia Tech 74-66, Southwestern Louisiana upset North Texas 62-61, Vermont surprised Dartmouth 67-65, The Citadel beat Auburn 73-70, Ithaca upset Colgate 89-87 and Tennessee made it 25 in a row at home by crushing Richmond 93-45.

New Mexico edged Oregon 64-60, Washington crushed Miami of Florida 96-54, Colorado beat Texas Tech 87-69, Weber State overcame Colorado State University 71-61, Southern Illinois humbled Sam Houston State 70-54, Southern California defeated Idaho 59-50, Stanford rolled over Portland 83-47 and Oklahoma conquered Centenary 91-74 in other major games.

Joe Cromer, with 29 points, paced Temple over Creighton; Ray Bueb's layup gave Vermont its upset over Dartmouth; Russ Marron's basket in the last 16 seconds did the same for Ithaca over Colgate, and Marvin Winkler's 15-foot jumper with two seconds on the clock accounted for Southwestern Louisiana's surprise victory over North Texas at Lafayette, La.

McKinstry's 33 Paces East Palestine Victory

Dan McKinstry scored 33 points, two short of the school record, in pacing East Palestine to a 59-57 win over Canfield at Canfield last night in the opener for both teams.

The Bulldogs led 59-53 with 1:30 to go and hung on for the win. Bill Lewis added 10 for the winners. McKinstry was also the leading rebounder for Paul Swinderman's team with 12. Jim Taucher added 11.

Larry McCall was high for Canfield with 25 and 6-5 sophomore John Egner added 12. The Bulldogs hit 41 per cent of their shots, the losers 43 per cent.

Canfield easily won the reserve game 44-19, with Dave Stanley leading the way with 13. Ted Reeves and Rob Strawn each had six for the losers.

Cold 3rd Period Costs Oak Glen Opening Game

Oak Glen's poor shooting eye resulted in a 53-47 loss to visiting Pittsburgh Langley Friday night in the season's opener for both schools.

Trailing 23-21 at halftime, Langley made 10 of 15 attempts from the field in the third period to outscore Oak Glen, 20-10 to take a 41-33 lead into the final eight minutes.

Three Langley starters hit the double numerals with Schmidt scoring 15 points while Kizina followed with 14 and Perkins 11.

Langley finished with a 36 per cent shooting mark on 20 of 55 attempts.

Steve Logston dropped in 16 points on eight field goals for Oak Glen while John Roach added 12.

Dover, Shelby Coaches Set For North-South

By HAL PARIS
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Two coaches who guided their teams to perfect 10-0 records have been chosen to lead the All-Stars in next summer's North-South high school football game in Canton.

Dick Haines of Dover and Bill Wilkins of Shelby will lead the South and North squads respectively.

Their selections were made Friday night at a meeting of the board of directors of the Ohio High School Football Coaches Association.

Dover finished fifth in the final Associated Press poll and Shelby was sixth.

Haines won out in balloting over John Lantz of Versailles and Bron Bacevich of Cincinnati Roger Bacon, Wilkins's closest competitors were Bob Reublin of Sandusky and Bob Commings of Struthers.

Even before the coaches were named, the directors discussed the possibility of playing a second All-Star game against Pennsylvania schoolboy gridders.

A group from Hershey, Pa., has invited Ohio to play the Keystone State's top stars a week after the Ohio All-Star contest.

The board expressed interest in the invitation and appointed a committee to study the feasibility of participating in such a game by 1969. Directors concluded there was not sufficient time to study the offer in time for a 1968 game.

In other action, the board deadlocked 8-8 on whether to recommend its association for membership in the National Federation of High School Athletics. Ohio football currently is played under modified rules and regulations set by the NCAA.

South Side Wins 2nd 52-48 At Northwestern

South Side Beaver won its second basketball game of the season with a 52-48 decision over Northwestern on the losers' court last night.

Northwestern, which dropped its second straight, hit 40 per cent from the floor compared to 35 per cent for the winners. South Side won the game at the foul line, with 14 of 26 to 8 of 16 for the losers.

In the reserve contest, Northwestern won 50-35. George Pavlick had 20 for the Little Panthers and Doug Williamson had 12 and Harry McElhaney 10 to pace South Side.

Both Leagues Will Expand

Expansion, Trades, Rule Changes Mark Meetings

By CHARLES GREEN

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Expansion, rules changes and player trades dominated baseball's 66th winter meeting with both major leagues making plans for 12-club pennant races.

The American League, which indicated before the meetings started it would expand in 1969 to Seattle, Wash., and Kansas City, conditionally approved a franchise holder in Seattle and set up a definite date to choose the franchise group which would replace the Athletics taken to Oakland by Charles O. Finley.

National League owners voted to expand not later than 1971 and appointed a pair of owners to study expansion. Six cities have made formal application for the two proposed National League spots.

Seattle's Pacific Northwest Sports, Inc., was given conditional approval for a 1969 entry into the American League. The conditions include passage of a $40 million stadium bond issue, start of construction on the stadium by the end of 1970 and adequate interim playing facilities.

"This has been a very successful year," Commissioner William D. Eckert said at Friday night's final joint league meeting. "I am especially pleased with the expansion talks which have taken place here."

The baseball men, by meeting Friday night, got out of Mexico City a day ahead of schedule.

Before they left they made deals on 33 players, attempted to put teeth in the ban against the spitball, got into a brief squabble with players and outlawed the type of trades which involve "a player to be named later."

They also set the major league player limit at 25 per club—down from 28—for the majority of the season and agreed irrevocable interleague waivers of $20,000 must be obtained before a player can be released.

The squabble involved what the Players Association said was delay on the part of the owners in negotiating a Statement of Policy which would increase the minimum salary $5,000 to $12,000 a year. That apparently was resolved with an agreement to meet in New York later this month.

But the big issue was expansion. Warren Giles, president of the National League, had indicated his group would not rush into expansion just because the Americans had announced plans for 12 clubs in 1969. But the pressure on the National League owners was tremendous because of many awkward complications if one league operates with two more clubs than the other.

The National League gave no indication when expansion might come except to say, "The National League unanimously decided to expand not later than 1971 into two cities with ownership meeting the terms and conditions now being prepared."

San Diego, Calif., Dallas-Fort Worth, Tex.; Buffalo, N.Y.; Milwaukee, Wis.; Toronto and Montreal have made application for the two franchises. Denver has submitted an informal bid.

Los Angeles and Minnesota made what was probably the biggest player deal during the five-day meeting. The Dodgers got shortstop Zoilo Versalles and pitcher Jim "Mudcat" Grant in exchange for catcher John Roseboro, lefty Ron Perranoski and right hander Bob Miller.

Luis Aparicio got a ticket back to Comiskey Park when the Chicago White Sox gave pitcher Bruce Howard, utility infielder Don Buford and pitcher Roger Nelson to Baltimore in exchange for the speedy Latin, outfielder Russ Snyder and John Matias, a minor league player.

Tri-State LL Schedules Meeting

Tigers Upset Midland; Beaver Local Drubs Western

The Review Sports

SATURDAY, DECEMBER 2, 1967 EAST LIVERPOOL REVIEW PAGE 12

McClain Paces 49-48 Triumph

By TURK PIERCE
Review Sports Editor

The Midland Leopards and the Wellsville Tigers got together at Wellsville last night and engaged in a battle as ferocious as any jungle fray, with the home team pulling a 49-48 upset.

The forces of Bob Dawson, who chalked up a win in his first start as Wellsville coach, took the lead early in the second half and never relinquished it, though the Midland press gave them some anxious moments near the end. Ed Olkowski's club is now 1-1. The victory was the first for Wellsville over Midland since 1950.

Tom McClain was high scorer for the winners with 15 points, but even more important he snagged a game-high 18 rebounds. The Tigers outrebounded the shorter Leopards 50-36, the key statistic of the game. Each team made 23 field goals, Wellsville on 59 shots for 39 per cent and Midland on 61 shots for 37.7 per cent, so the home team, despite making a poor 25 percent of its foul shots, won the game from the foul line with 3 for 12. Midland attempted only five foul shots, making two.

Dawson said he didn't think Wellsville played too well on offense, but the Bengals made few mistakes until the wild last period, when they committed eight of their game total of 12 turnovers. Midland made nine turnovers, four in the last period.

Jerry Wyse, connecting on jump shots, netted 14 points for Wellsville and Paul Hood added 10. Dan Sedar grabbed 11 rebounds.

Midland's Howard Leak had 23 points to take game honors, while Dave Vanlier added 11 and Bob Needs 10. Needs led the Leopards with 10 rebounds.

Midland never trailed in the first period and once led 11-6, their biggest margin of the game. Leak, driving well and also hitting from the outside, had eight markers in this period. Wellsville caught up in the second period and led by as much as three, but a shot at the buzzer by Leak gave Midland a 28-26 halftime lead.

Three quick buckets, two by Hood, gave Wellsville the lead for good as the third period opened, and they built the margin to 42-36 at the end of the stanza. But the Leopards got two quick baskets because of their press to stay in the game. The Tigers led 47-42 with 2:40 to go, but Leak connected twice to make it 47-46 with two minutes left. McClain got a tap-in to give Wellsville some breathing room, and the Tigers got the ball and went into a stall. The ball was lost and Ray Cerasi hit his lone bucket of the night to get the visitors within one again with 40 seconds left. Vanlier fouled Mark Powell with 32 seconds showing, and Powell missed and Midland got the ball. The Leopards missed a shot and McClain came up with the rebound, but once again the pressure defense got the ball back for Midland.

With five seconds left Leak tried to drive the baseline, but could only get off an awkward shot and Hood came down with the final rebound of the game.

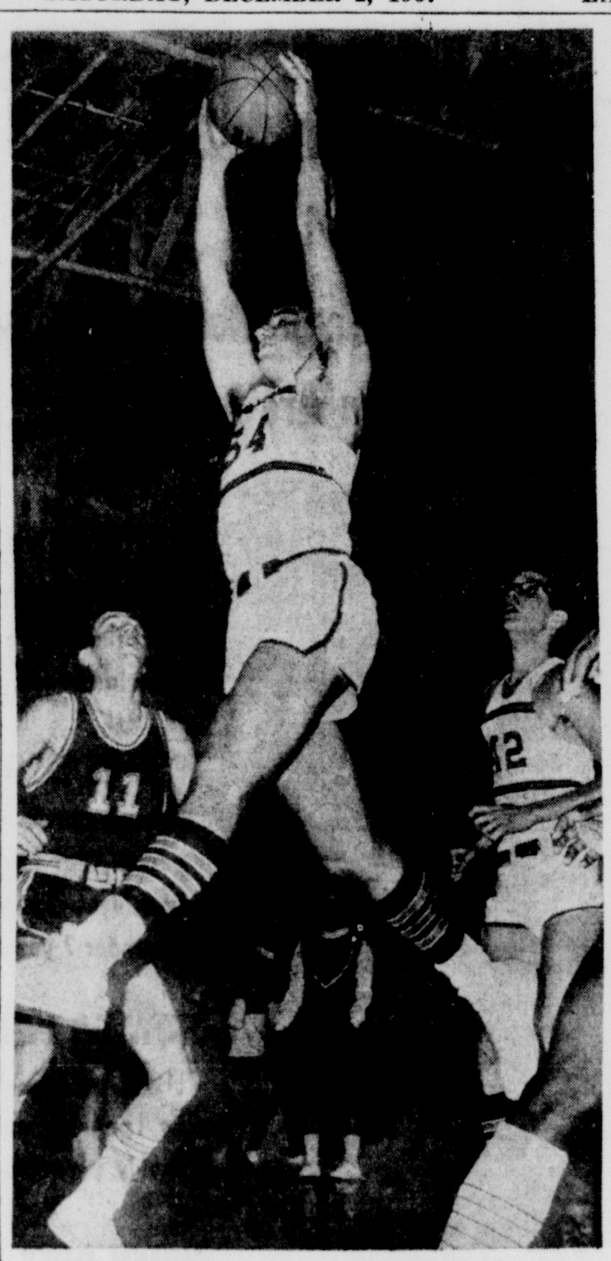

Wellsville was also victorious in the reserve game, 52-38. John Bolialich got 23 points and 13 rebounds to pace Wellsville and Joe Deangelo added 10 points. Tom Vanlier led Midland with 16.

Tonight Wellsville travels to Beaver Local for a Buckeye Border Conference game while Midland hosts Coraopolis Tuesday.

While Coach Lloyd Stockdale's forces chalked up their first victory, the defeat was the third in a row for Western Beaver.

Last night's game served as a warmup for tonight's meeting with Wellsville. Beaver Local will host the improved Tigers who defeated Midland in another opening game Friday.

After taking a 16-10 first period lead, the Beavers warmed to the task and broke the game wide open in the second quarter by outscoring Western, 22-9, for a 38-19 margin at intermission.

Campbell led three starters into the double figures with Jim Reese next in line with 14 while Dave Mason added 10.

Stanton Edged 58-54 By Tall Wayne Wolves

Stanton Local dropped its opening basketball game of the season at Stanton last night, 58-54 to Wayne.

The Red Raiders led by two with 2:50 to go, but Wayne paraded to the foul line successfully eight times in the final period to pull out the decision. Stanton had more field goals, 22-19, but lost the game at the foul line. The forces of Dave Murray were also hurt when Bill Koehnlein fouled out near the end of the third period, giving 6-7 Gary Davenport more room to maneuver for the Wolves. He led all scorers with 19, despite a good defensive job by Cliff Slusher, who kept Davenport away from the basket most of the time. Tom Harvey added 13 and Jim Doakes 10 for the winners.

Slusher paced Stanton with 17, Randy Frampton had 12 and Jack Byers 11. The game was close all the way, with six points being the biggest margin for Wayne and three points the biggest lead for Stanton. The Red Raiders are at Brilliant tonight.

Alcindor, UCLA Open With Purdue; Unseld's 45 Sparks Louisville Win

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Westley Unseld of Louisville has set a goal of 45 points for UCLA's Lew Alcindor to shoot at tonight when the national collegiate basketball champions open their season at Purdue.

Unseld, picked on the 1967 All-America with Alcindor, set a Louisville one-game record as the nationally third-ranked Cardinals whipped Georgetown, Ky., 118-66 at home as the college season opened officially Friday night.

Alcindor, the 7-foot-1 Player of the Year last season when he led UCLA through an unbeaten season, scored 56 points against Southern California in his first varsity game as a sophomore.

A sellout crowd of 14,500 is expected at Purdue's new campus gym to see how many big Lew will tally against the Boilermakers in his first game as a junior.

Princeton's Ivy League champs, ranked eighth to UCLA in the pre-season AP poll, rallied for a 62-59 victory over Army, and the 10th-ranked Davidson Wildcats also chalked up an opening home court by drubbing Bucknell 91-70.

Temple shattered Creighton's record of not having lost a home opener in 32 years by whipping the Blue Jays, 87-79 at Omaha, Neb.

Duke downed Virginia Tech 74-66, Southwestern Louisiana upset North Texas 62-61, Vermont surprised Dartmouth 67-65, The Citadel beat Auburn 73-70, Ithaca upset Colgate 89-87 and Tennessee made it 25 in a row at home by crushing Richmond 93-45.

New Mexico edged Oregon 64-60, Washington crushed Miami of Florida 96-54, Colorado beat Texas Tech 87-69, Weber State overcame Colorado State University 71-61, Southern Illinois humbled Sam Houston State 70-54, Southern California defeated Idaho 59-50, Stanford rolled over Portland 83-47 and Oklahoma conquered Centenary 91-74 in other major games.

Joe Cromer, with 29 points, paced Temple over Creighton; Ray Bueb's layup gave Vermont its upset over Dartmouth; Russ Marron's basket in the last 16 seconds did the same for Ithaca over Colgate, and Marvin Winkler's 15-foot jumper with two seconds on the clock accounted for Southwestern Louisiana's surprise victory over North Texas at Lafayette, La.

McKinstry's 33 Paces East Palestine Victory

Dan McKinstry scored 33 points, two short of the school record, in pacing East Palestine to a 59-57 win over Canfield at Canfield last night in the opener for both teams.

The Bulldogs led 59-53 with 1:30 to go and hung on for the win. Bill Lewis added 10 for the winners. McKinstry was also the leading rebounder for Paul Swinderman's team with 12. Jim Taucher added 11.

Larry McCall was high for Canfield with 25 and 6-5 sophomore John Egner added 12. The Bulldogs hit 41 per cent of their shots, the losers 43 per cent.

Canfield easily won the reserve game 44-19, with Dave Stanley leading the way with 13. Ted Reeves and Rob Strawn each had six for the losers.

Cold 3rd Period Costs Oak Glen Opening Game

Oak Glen's poor shooting eye resulted in a 53-47 loss to visiting Pittsburgh Langley Friday night in the season's opener for both schools.

Trailing 23-21 at halftime, Langley made 10 of 15 attempts from the field in the third period to outscore Oak Glen, 20-10 to take a 41-33 lead into the final eight minutes.

Three Langley starters hit the double numerals with Schmidt scoring 15 points while Kizina followed with 14 and Perkins 11.

Langley finished with a 36 per cent shooting mark on 20 of 55 attempts.

Steve Logston dropped in 16 points on eight field goals for Oak Glen while John Roach added 12.

Dover, Shelby Coaches Set For North-South

By HAL PARIS
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Two coaches who guided their teams to perfect 10-0 records have been chosen to lead the All-Stars in next summer's North-South high school football game in Canton.

Dick Haines of Dover and Bill Wilkins of Shelby will lead the South and North squads respectively.

Their selections were made Friday night at a meeting of the board of directors of the Ohio High School Football Coaches Association.

Dover finished fifth in the final Associated Press poll and Shelby was sixth.

Haines won out in balloting over John Lantz of Versailles and Bron Bacevich of Cincinnati Roger Bacon, Wilkins's closest competitors were Bob Reublin of Sandusky and Bob Commings of Struthers.

Even before the coaches were named, the directors discussed the possibility of playing a second All-Star game against Pennsylvania schoolboy gridders.

A group from Hershey, Pa., has invited Ohio to play the Keystone State's top stars a week after the Ohio All-Star contest.

The board expressed interest in the invitation and appointed a committee to study the feasibility of participating in such a game by 1969. Directors concluded there was not sufficient time to study the offer in time for a 1968 game.

In other action, the board deadlocked 8-8 on whether to recommend its association for membership in the National Federation of High School Athletics. Ohio football currently is played under modified rules and regulations set by the NCAA.

South Side Wins 2nd 52-48 At Northwestern

Northwestern, which dropped its second straight, hit 40 per cent from the floor compared to 35 per cent for the winners. South Side won the game at the foul line, with 14 of 26 to 8 of 16 for the losers.

JU Squeezes By Southern Quint, 47-46

Southern Local carried a six-point lead into the final quarter but Jefferson Union rallied to hand the Indians a 47-46 setback Friday night on the Southern floor.

Poor shooting by Southern resulted in the defeat as Coach Al Girone's club only hit 16 of 69 attempts for a dismal 23 per cent. Meanwhile Jefferson Union fired 35 per cent on 19 of 54.

Southern led 12-10 at the end of the first quarter as the half ended in a 23-23 tie. Southern went on to take a 34-28 lead at the end of the third period but soon watched the lead wiped out.

With eight seconds to go, JU led 47-44 as Southern sank the last basket at the buzzer only to fall a point short.

The Southern Local reserves won, 32-20.

Norm Vanlier Scores 27 In Losing Cause

By The Associated Press

Little St. Francis of Loretto enjoyed one of its finest seasons last year and came into this season openly shooting for a post-season tournament berth.

But the Frankies overlooked rebounding Duquesne, bouncing back after a miserable season.

The Dukes jumped off to an early lead and belted St. Francis 96-84 Friday night in the season opener for both clubs. It ended a three-game losing streak against the Frankies for Duquesne.

Some 5,672 at Pittsburgh's Civic Arena saw Ron Guziak score 24 and Phil Washington 20 for Duquesne, which led 43-27 at halftime. Washington also hauled in 10 rebounds.

Norm Vanlier scored 27 for the Frankies, including 17 in the second half.

Duquesne clicked on 54 per cent of its shots from the floor compared to 35 per cent for St. Francis.

While Duquesne was opening in fine style, Pitt was clobbered 100-74 by Rutgers at New Brunswick, N.J.

In other games involving Western Pennsylvania colleges, California led all the way to defeat Waynesburg 105-91 and Gannon topped Quincy, Ill., 72-61.

Six players scored in double figures for Rutgers, which led 45-31 at halftime, but Pitt's Mike Patcher took game honors with 22 points. The Scarlet also dominated in rebounds 51-41.

Pat Hobart's 29 points, Bernie Floriani's 24 and Bill Stewart's 14 led California at Waynesburg.

Ron Johnson scored 24 and Larry Daly pumped in 20 to pace Gannon.

California Five Crushed By OSU

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Taking an early lead and holding it to the end, Ohio State crushed the University of California at Davis, 95-52, in a basketball season opener for both teams Friday night.

The Aggies scored the first basket, but Ohio State ran off 17 straight points after that and ran away with the game.

Buckeye Coach Fred Taylor began substituting with seven minutes left in the first half. By game's end, 18 Buckeyes had seen action and all but eight had scored.

Leading the Buckeye onslaught was Bill Hoskett with 15 points, backed up by 14 each from Dave Sorenson and Bruce Schnabel.

Al Steed's 15 points paced the Aggies.

West Virginia Cagers Open Season Tonight

MORGANTOWN (AP) — Highly regarded West Virginia University enters the Southern Conference basketball wars tonight in a conference game against William and Mary in a game that should answer early WVU coach Bucky Waters' question about the rebounding power of his team.

Waters should experience no problems in the scoring department with returning lettermen Ron Williams and Dave Reasor in the lineup. Williams, a 6-3 guard, paced last year's attack with a 20.1 average, and Reasor, a 6-6 forward, averaged 19.9 last season.

Reasor and 6-4 junior college transfer Carcy Bailey will be counted upon to man the boards for the Mountaineers. Bailey, considered a real jumping jack, is a question mark so far.

William and Mary's tallest starter is 6-8 Dave Dougherty, who is expected to be improved after averaging 12 points last season.

JU Squeezes By Southern Quint, 47-46

Southern Local carried a six-point lead into the final quarter but Jefferson Union rallied to hand the Indians a 47-46 setback Friday night on the Southern floor.

Poor shooting by Southern resulted in the defeat as Coach Al Girone's club only hit 16 of 69 attempts for a dismal 23 per cent. Meanwhile Jefferson Union fired 35 per cent on 19 of 54.

Southern led 12-10 at the end of the first quarter as the half ended in a 23-23 tie. Southern went on to take a 34-28 lead at the end of the third period but soon watched the lead wiped out.

With eight seconds to go, JU led 47-44 as Southern sank the last basket at the buzzer only to fall a point short.

The Southern Local reserves won, 32-20.

Norm Vanlier Scores 27 In Losing Cause

By The Associated Press

Little St. Francis of Loretto enjoyed one of its finest seasons last year and came into this season openly shooting for a post-season tournament berth.

The Dukes jumped off to an early lead and belted St. Francis 96-84 Friday night in the season opener for both clubs. It ended a three-game losing streak against the Frankies for Duquesne.

Some 5,672 at Pittsburgh's Civic Arena saw Ron Guziak score 24 and Phil Washington 20 for Duquesne, which led 43-27 at halftime. Washington also hauled in 10 rebounds.

Norm Vanlier scored 27 for the Frankies, including 17 in the second half.

Duquesne clicked on 54 per cent of its shots from the floor compared to 35 per cent for St. Francis.

While Duquesne was opening in fine style, Pitt was clobbered 100-74 by Rutgers at New Brunswick, N.J.

In other games involving Western Pennsylvania colleges, California led all the way to defeat Waynesburg 105-91 and Gannon topped Quincy, Ill., 72-61.

Six players scored in double figures for Rutgers, which led 45-31 at halftime, but Pitt's Mike Patcher took game honors with 22 points. The Scarlet also dominated in rebounds 51-41.

Pat Hobart's 29 points, Bernie Floriani's 24 and Bill Stewart's 14 led California at Waynesburg.

Ron Johnson scored 24 and Larry Daly pumped in 20 to pace Gannon.

California Five Crushed By OSU

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Taking an early lead and holding it to the end, Ohio State crushed the University of California at Davis, 95-52, in a basketball season opener for both teams Friday night.

The Aggies scored the first basket, but Ohio State ran off 17 straight points after that and ran away with the game.

Buckeye Coach Fred Taylor began substituting with seven minutes left in the first half. By game's end, 18 Buckeyes had seen action and all but eight had scored.

Leading the Buckeye onslaught was Bill Hoskett with 15 points, backed up by 14 each from Dave Sorenson and Bruce Schnabel.

Al Steed's 15 points paced the Aggies.

West Virginia Cagers Open Season Tonight

MORGANTOWN (AP) — Highly regarded West Virginia University enters the Southern Conference basketball wars tonight in a conference game against William and Mary in a game that should answer early WVU coach Bucky Waters' question about the rebounding power of his team.

Waters should experience no problems in the scoring department with returning lettermen Ron Williams and Dave Reasor in the lineup. Williams, a 6-3 guard, paced last year's attack with a 20.1 average, and Reasor, a 6-6 forward, averaged 19.9 last season.

Reasor and 6-4 junior college transfer Carcy Bailey will be counted upon to man the boards for the Mountaineers. Bailey, considered a real jumping jack, is a question mark so far.

William and Mary's tallest starter is 6-8 Dave Dougherty, who is expected to be improved after averaging 12 points last season.

U.S. Steel Hikes Some Products By $5 Per Ton

PITTSBURGH (AP) — U. S. Steel Corp. announced a $5 a ton price increase Friday on a portion of its light, flat - rolled products, one of the industry's biggest sellers and used for a wide range of products from automobiles to household appliances.

The nation's largest steel producer said the increase, effective Dec. 15, amounts to a 2.1 per cent boost.

No reason was given for the increases.

If other producers follow, the industry will have hiked prices piecemeal this year on products accounting for nearly 62 per cent of its total output.

There was no immediate comment from other producers. But if tradition holds, the industry, after assessing the move and reaction from the government and buyers, can be expected to follow within a week.

RECORD YOUR VOICE ON TAPE AND SEND A

CHRISTMAS MESSAGE TO YOUR SERVICEMAN OVERSEAS

AN INVITATION TO YOU!

Army ★ Navy ★ Air Force ★ Marines ★ Coast Guard ★ Peace Corps

You can brighten the Christmas Holidays of your loved ones with a recording of your voice, the voices of the children and other family members; wishing them a very personal Merry Christmas, and sent with a picture of yourself and other family members.

Call the Area Red Cross Chapter office, 386-4144, to reserve a recording date. Your talking letter will be made on a tape recorder and can be played by your serviceman on machines available at military bases, hospitals and on board military ships around the world.

WHO CAN MAKE A RECORDING? ANY MEMBER OF A SERVICEMAN'S FAMILY: Wives, children, mothers and fathers, brothers and sisters, grandparents, foreign students - perhaps a foreign bride for her family overseas.

WHERE IS THE RECORDING MADE? At Radio Station WOHI, East Liverpool or at the AREA RED CROSS CHAPTER OFFICE, 213 E. Fourth St. An appointment will also be made for a member of the Camera Club to take your picture to accompany the tape recording.

WHAT IS THERE TO TALK ABOUT ON THE RECORDING? Holiday greetings — all the news from home — activities of family members — any special plans for the holidays — the voices of children — or perhaps a new baby — maybe the pet dog might voice a few barks by way of greeting. Before you record, jot down a few notes so that you won't forget important news items.

RECORDING SCHEDULE
NOVEMBER 27 THROUGH DECEMBER 13
WOHI: DAILY (EXCEPT SATURDAY & SUNDAY) 9 A. M. to 12 and 1 to 3 P. M.

U.S. Steel Hikes Some Products By $5 Per Ton

PITTSBURGH (AP) — U. S. Steel Corp. announced a $5 a ton price increase Friday on a portion of its light, flat - rolled products, one of the industry's biggest sellers and used for a wide range of products from automobiles to household appliances.

The nation's largest steel producer said the increase, effective Dec. 15, amounts to a 2.1 per cent boost.

No reason was given for the increases.

If other producers follow, the industry will have hiked prices piecemeal this year on products accounting for nearly 62 per cent of its total output.

There was no immediate comment from other producers. But if tradition holds, the industry, after assessing the move and reaction from the government and buyers, can be expected to follow within a week.

RECORD YOUR VOICE ON TAPE AND SEND A CHRISTMAS MESSAGE TO YOUR SERVICEMAN OVERSEAS

AN INVITATION TO YOU!

Army ★ Navy ★ Air Force ★ Marines ★ Coast Guard ★ Peace Corps

You can brighten the Christmas Holidays of your loved ones with a recording of your voice, the voices of the children and other family members; wishing them a very personal Merry Christmas, and sent with a picture of yourself and other family members.

Call the Area Red Cross Chapter office, 386-4144, to reserve a recording date. Your talking letter will be made on a tape recorder and can be played by your serviceman on machines available at military bases, hospitals and on board military ships around the world.

WHO CAN MAKE A RECORDING? ANY MEMBER OF A SERVICEMAN'S FAMILY: Wives, children, mothers and fathers, brothers and sisters, grandparents, foreign students - perhaps a foreign bride for her family overseas.

WHERE IS THE RECORDING MADE? At Radio Station WOHI, East Liverpool or at the AREA RED CROSS CHAPTER OFFICE, 213 E. Fourth St. An appointment will also be made for a member of the Camera Club to take your picture to accompany the tape recording.

WHAT IS THERE TO TALK ABOUT ON THE RECORDING? Holiday greetings — all the news from home — activities of family members — any special plans for the holidays — the voices of children — or perhaps a new baby — maybe the pet dog might voice a few barks by way of greeting. Before you record, jot down a few notes so that you won't forget important news items.

RECORDING SCHEDULE

Junior Editors Quiz on GALAXIES

QUESTION: How many kinds of galaxies are there?

★ ★ ★

ANSWER: A galaxy is a huge group of stars. Our sun, with the planets rotating around it, is part of an enormous grouping of similar stars, perhaps 100 billion of them, which is called the Milky Way, or simply the Galaxy. It was once thought that this was the only galaxy. But modern astronomers, looking at certain luminous misty objects with powerful new telescopes, discovered them to be galaxies too; that is, separate collections of stars enormous distances away. Astronomers think there may be billions of such outer galaxies. They recognize three general types, which we illustrate. The elliptical galaxy (1) appears rounded or disc-shaped. The irregular galaxy (2) has no special shape. The spiral galaxy (3) is a flattened disc which turns and throws off arms in pin wheel fashion. In lower left we see the beautiful spiral galaxy of Andromeda. If we could get way off and see our Galaxy (lower right) it would also appear to have this shape. Exciting new discoveries about very distant galaxies are being made. Watch your newspapers for reports about them.

One year ago — President Lyndon B. Johnson was told by his chief economic adviser that continued prosperity and easing of inflationary pressures were in prospect for the coming year.
